Indictment Of Swainson Predicted!

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson stepped aside from court activities Wednesday until bribery charges against him are resolved. Earlier in the day, Swainson took the Fifth Amendment to protect himself from having to give self-incriminating testimony.

The Detroit Free Press said in its Thursday Edition that the grand jury is expected to indict Swainson soon on a bribery charge.

Swainson, 49, appeared for a second day before the federal grand jury in Detroit to answer a charge that he took a $40,000 bribe from John Joseph Whalen, 30, a convicted burglar. The bribe, claims Whalen, was made in 1973 to help him get a new trial. Whalen was convicted a second time but now is free on bond. Swainson also has been questioned by the Internal Revenue Service defense Attorney Konrad Kohl said he advised Swainson to withhold testimony as allowed by the Fifth Amendment because he does not know what the evidence will be against Swainson if he is indicted. Kohl said he had not been told he would be indicted, but said reports he has heard and read lead to the conclusion: "The posture of the whole matter was that Justice Swainson will be indicted."

Robert Ozer, head of the U.S. Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit, said "major strides" have been made this week in the investigation of Swainson. "I feel that the investigation is likely to be resolved in respect to the Whalen case within the next couple of weeks. I'd be very surprised if charges are not brought," Ozer said Wednesday.

Ozer said other bribery accusations against Swainson also are being probed by the strike force, and other investigations are proceeding within the Supreme Court and the state Court of Appeals. He said the real issue is not Swainson's innocence or guilt, but how there can be "access of this kind to the appellate judiciary."

"That question, I think, goes beyond what happened in the Whalen case," Ozer added. He said he expects other persons, who he refused to identify, will be indicted along with Swainson. The others are not members of the Michigan judiciary, he said.

The Supreme Court confirmed April 16 that Swainson, a former Democratic Michigan governor and lieutenant governor, was under investigation. The court said it had hired its own attorney.

In a statement issued from the court Wednesday, Swainson said: "Because of the circumstances which have developed in the past few weeks, I have on my own volition decided to refrain from participating in any matters before the Supreme Court until such time as the existing situation is resolved."

Three Teens Electrocuted In Brief Storm

Three teenagers died yesterday as the result of a brief but powerful wind and electrical storm which slashed across southwestern Michigan.

Near Gallien, in Berrien county, John William Gosnell Jr., 16, 406 Hickory street, Three Oaks, was killed about 1:35 p.m. when struck in the head by a lightning bolt while working in an open field, according to Berrien county sheriff's deputies from the Gallien substation.

Near Lawrence, in Van Buren county, Clifford C. Rader, 18, route 4, Paw Paw, and Sheila Crawford, 18, 202 Bangor road, Lawrence, were electrocuted when they bumped into a downed power line about 11 p.m., in a wooded area about four miles south of Lawrence.

The Consumers Power company line apparently had been knocked down by a 2:30 p.m. thunder and windstorm that swept through the area, Van Buren sheriff's deputies reported.

Gosnell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schoff of Three Oaks and John Gosnell of Michigan City, was putting down field tile with two other men in an open field on the Bill Koebel farm on Beaver Dam road when the lightning struck during a sudden storm.

Deputies said the youth was struck in the head.

His brother-in-law, Raymond Miller, 20, Three Oaks, went for help while another worker, Charles Brage, 40, Gallien, a contractor, attempted to revive the youth with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Dr. D. Kent Hassan, a Berrien county deputy medical examiner, ruled death was caused by the lightning.

Near Lawrence, witnesses told deputies Rader and Miss Crawford had gotten out of a car for a walk in a woods.

Deputies said the two apparently bumped into an ankle-high power line carrying 4,800 volts at 65 amperes.

Miss Crawford's sister, Susan, 16, and Adam Rodriguez, 15, both of Lawrence, were sitting in the car and reported seeing two sudden flashes followed by two small fires, deputies said.

Officers said power from the lines had severed the legs of both victims whose bodies were also burned beyond recognition. They were pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Carl Boothby of Hartford, a Van Buren county deputy medical examiner.

Miss Crawford was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crawford of 202 Bangor road and was a student at Lawrence high school.

Rader, a Lawrence high school senior, was the son of Mrs. Frank Skinner of route 4, Paw Paw, and Jack Rader of Bangor.

Happy Fishing Trip Becomes Tragedy

Drowning Site Favorite Spot For Entire Carr Family

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

John E. Carr was a 45-year-old construction foreman who liked to take his two oldest sons fishing at North Grand Mere lake. Mrs. Carr and the three youngest children would follow later and play in the park on the lake shore.

Wednesday afternoon the bodies of Carr and his sons, Jonathan, 12, and Darrell, 11, were recovered in the lake by state police divers and officers of the Berrien sheriff's marine division.

Carr and his sons drowned Tuesday evening when a violent storm hit the lake while they were fishing. As reported yesterday, witnesses told state police Carr's boat disappeared from sight in heavy rain.

He was seen minutes later trying to get the boat and wading into the lake. It appeared the two boys had been swept overboard.

Yesterday police re-interviewed witnesses. Troopers now believe the boys drowned while trying to wade to shore in the storm and the father drowned while trying to rescue them.

Troopers said it appears Carr tied the boat to vegetation a short distance from shore and told the boys to wade ashore. The water was 12 to 18 inches deep, but the boys apparently stepped into a deep hole at the mouth of a nearby inlet. Carr then drowned while trying to save them.

Carr's body was found in about seven feet of water at the inlet and bodies of the boys were recovered in six feet of water farther out in the lake.

Mrs. Carr said the North Grand Mere lake in Lincoln township was one of her husband's favorite fishing spots, but not for the usual fishing reason. The family lived at 1260 Pearl street, Benton Harbor.

"He liked the spot because of the park nearby. The little ones could play there while he and the older ones fished," Mrs. Carr said.

She added, "John just loved to fish, especially with the boys." Mrs. Carr said her husband would come home from work as a foreman at Holland Construction Co., would gather up his fishing gear and the boys and then take off. Such was the case Tuesday when the three left home about 5:30 p.m.

A spokesman for Holland Construction Co., 512 Colonial drive, St. Joseph, said Carr was employed there for eight years and described him as a man "well liked by his fellow worker" and as a "good worker."

Mr. Carr was a veteran of World War II. Surviving are his widow, Mary; two sons, Joseph and Chris and two daughters, Jenoyce Carr and Renee Rice, all at home; his mother, Mrs. Lucy Carr, Detroit; a brother, James and two sisters, Mrs. Anita Jones and Mrs. Melvina Mancill, all of Detroit.

Surviving Darrell and Jonathan are their mother, Mary; two brothers, Joseph and Chris and two sisters, Jenoyce Carr and Renee Rice, all at home and their grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Carr, Detroit.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete today at Robbins Brothers funeral home.

Missing Friend Is Mourned By Teacher, Pals

The deaths of Darrell and Jonathan Carr brought grief to friends and a teacher. The following is a letter from Mrs. Esther Kruger, a fifth grade teacher at Fairplain Northeast elementary school, who was Darrell's teacher:

Editor:

A group of children who usually burst into school with as much speed and chatter as they think will be tolerated walked in this morning with quiet awesome expressions at Fair Plain Northeast school. An especially somber group filed into my classroom.

One boy with a near perfect attendance record was missing. Darrell Carr was one of the tragic, drowning victims of Tuesday evening.

"How do you begin a school day such as this? I breathed a prayer for composure. (A teacher doesn't cry in front of her class.) I can't recall even now what I said. Unashamed tears trickled from some eyes. A usually quiet boy said, 'You don't know how much you like them until they're gone.'"

Darrell was the all-American mischievous kid who wore a sheepish grin when caught in his capers. If there was one reprimand he often heard from me it was, "Darrell, go back to your own seat," for he was a gregarious youngster who loved to slip into an empty seat next to a best friend.

At no time was he rude or did he show disrespect. However, his work was finished on time quite accurately and he handed in extra credit book reports.

He loved sports and showed promising skills. This was obvious to his teammates who saw to it that he played in spots to make them winners.

Two years ago I had his brother, Jonathan in one class while doing team teaching. He too tried hard to achieve, listened carefully and as a result succeeded.

To their heartbroken Mom I want to say that those brief lives were a success because you cared. You showed an intelligent concern that didn't pamper, but gave loving guidance.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Esther Krugers

Private Schooling Again Hit In The Pocketbook

Private and parochial schooling which absorbs a substantial share of the nation's educational load, and which in the K-12 range performs as well, frequently better, and at considerably less cost than the public system, took another heavy punch this week.

In a decision marked by conflicting dissents, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled against the Pennsylvania state treasury paying remedial teachers and counselors in private schools and also authorizing loans of public funds to those schools for instructional materials.

The court upheld lending of textbooks to the schools on the ground this was simply spreading a benefit required for public school enrollees.

Justices Brennan, Douglas and Marshall opposed the textbook loan. Parochial, in whatever form, they declared, goes against the general principle of keeping church and state separate in this country.

The Brennan-Douglas-Marshall view also conflicts with an opinion voiced gratuitously by the majority which says state aid in the form of busing and the hot lunch does not offend the separatist doctrine.

In one sense the Washington decision is nothing new to the some 1,400 private and parochial systems in Michigan. A few months ago the state supreme court delivered the identical ban on state financed textbooks, classroom materials and teaching. The latter opinion simply cancels any thought of appealing the Lansing order.

The decision, however, does throw a cloud around a disguised bit of parochialism which the Michigan legislature adopted a few years ago. This is the tuition allowance to a student wanting to attend a private college but who can not financially do it entirely on his own. The money is sent to the college on a check made payable to the student. He indorses it and the school banks it to its own account. If the student fails to show up or changes his mind about attending, the check goes back to Lansing.

Technically, the grant goes to the individual. In practice, it is the subsidy which the legislature intended it to be.

The Pennsylvania decision is the latest in a long series of judicial wrestling with the touchy question of religious activity in our country.

There never has been any argument that the public treasury can not contribute directly to a church as has been the practice in Great Britain since Henry VIII's time in a tax being levied to assist the Church of England.

On the other hand, the courts have consistently upheld exempting from taxation church property and income (contributions) devoted entirely to religious purposes. The exemption is lost if the property or income is devoted to and is derivative from business activity.

Early in our national history, the church school was banned as intruding upon the state's monopoly power to educate its younger citizens.

Eventually the Supreme Court outlawed that position as the state interfering with freedom of religious expression.

The Pennsylvania decision is a compromise rather than a clearcut position. Financially, at least, it is difficult to square the thought of remedial instruction advancing a religious doctrine whereas a textbook loan, a hot lunch or a bus ride does not.

We always have strongly advocated keeping the state out of the church and religion out of politics, but as a practical matter the limited state assistance extended to the private school scarcely seems to flaunt the First Amendment.

If the private school should go down the drain, our already floundering public system will follow quickly.

Sharpen Verbal Skills And Revive An Old Art

A good reason, you know, for reading more and, uh, watching, you know, television less, is that people who do, you know, are apt not to talk like this. If there is a verbal idiom which can get under the skin it is the constant "you knows" teenagers and others are interspersing every few words in their sentences.

Susan Gray, chief speech pathologist in a Los Angeles hospital, believes there are two reasons why poor speaking habits have developed. One is mental laziness associated with too much passive television viewing and too little verbalizing. The other is that modern society is producing information at a dizzying pace, confusing the brain when it tries to sort out thoughts for the person to express.

The result often is pauses in conversation, with "you knows" thrown in to give the person time to organize his thoughts. Mrs. Gray calls persons who find it necessary to adopt such speech crutches conversation onlookers rather than participants. Parents, she suggests, should sharpen their own verbal skills and use them more frequently. The art of conversation can be revived.

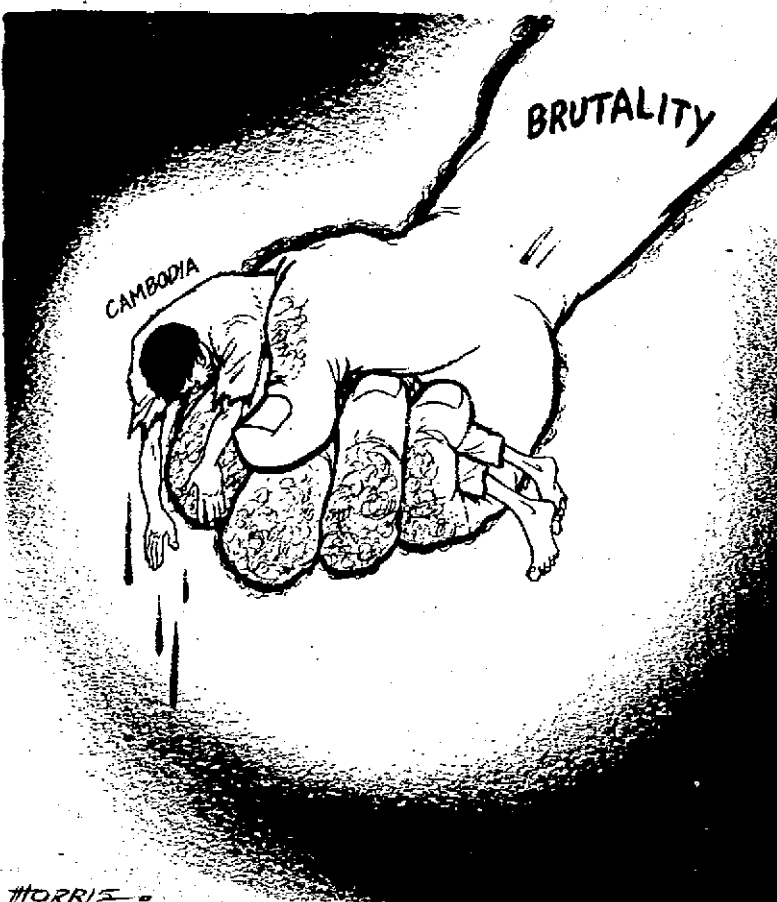

Declining Discount Rate Encouraging Sign For Economy

In the many-faceted credit field, a drop in the discount rate offered by the Federal Reserve Board to member banks does not automatically precede a general decrease in interest rates. But as one of the costs incurred by lending institutions of securing temporary funds to lend to their customers, the discount rate is an important factor in easing or tightening the money supply.

By lowering the discount rate another quarter of a percentage point (to 6 per cent), the Federal Reserve Board is continuing a trend which began in April, 1974, when the discount rate was 8 per cent.

The latest drop is the fifth in a year, and is clearly designed as part of the Federal Reserve System's contribution to promoting economic growth. A two-point drop in the discount rate in so short a time is considered a strong incentive to lower interest rates generally and promote more liberal credit practices.

HOW TO HANDLE BOAT TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Now that boating season is in full swing, it is becoming more and more evident, with more and more boats on the water, that we have a serious traffic congestion problem in the Twin City area every time the Main Street bridge is opened over the St. Joseph River. This, of course, will be alleviated once the new bridges are completed, but this is still at least two summers away.

I have a suggestion that I have presented verbally on numerous occasions to a member of the Benton Harbor City Commission and have not received any indication that the suggestion was either unworkable or was perhaps going to be implemented.

Instead of opening the bridges as much as four and five times during a given hour on Saturdays and Sundays, I'd like to suggest that the bridge be opened on the hour on Saturdays and Sundays for five to seven minutes to allow the various boaters to pass through the bridge. A conspicuous sign could be placed on or near the bridge advising the motoring public, as well as the boating public, of the bridge schedule. Obviously, if no boats were present at the time the bridge was to be opened, it would not be opened.

It would seem that it might be feasible to do the same thing during the week, making allowances in the schedule for the heavy motoring traffic when people are going to and from work, at which time the bridge would not be opened except for emergency use.

Many non-boaters would question why the boats don't use the Morrison Channel. The old railroad bridge at the end of Radio Island on the Morrison Channel was allegedly removed earlier this year. I say allegedly because there are still numerous underwater pilings and obstructions which are not marked and which imperil the safety of the boaters presently using the Morrison Channel.

It would appear that this plan is workable as it is now being used in other cities up and down our coastline. It will be interesting to see if this letter to the Editor prompts anymore action than my verbal suggestions to the member of the Benton Harbor City Commission.

OFFER ALTERNATIVE TO COMMUNISM

Communism is evil and violent and tyrannical. But when will we learn that communism can never be "contained" militarily? The alternative is to offer to people, desperate for change, something better. By our heritage and resources none are better fitted for that task than the American people.

Now we have added voices from Korean War and some 55,000 from the conflict in Vietnam. We withdrew from Vietnam by our "peace with honor". Only in Vietnam there was no peace.

When will we ever learn.

ASKS POLICY REVIEW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., introduced legislation today to convene a White House conference to review the goals of United States foreign policy.

Roy Cromley

U.S. Needs Elite Rescue Force

WASHINGTON — The capture and rescue of the American container ship Mayaguez demonstrates our need of a very small strike force composed of specialists able to quickly move into hairy situations with minimum force, minimum casualties and minimum damage.

The model might well be that small but expert force which moved in to the prisoner-of-war camp in the midst of the Vietnam war. That the camp was empty is no reflection on the expertise of that group of men; it was rather a failure of intelligence. Each man was picked for the mission on the basis of demonstrated skill in a needed specialty.

To insure success, a team with such skills must move in immediately and in secrecy, hopefully without bombing or major firefights, catching the foe off guard.

President Ford showed leadership and guts. But he also was aided by a great deal of luck — which might not be going for us the next time around.

The story would have been different if the Cambodians had quickly moved the ship and crew to the mainland, as did the North Vietnamese in the Pueblo capture. If the troops from Phnom Penh had shifted the crew of the Mayaguez to the interior of Cambodia, no U.S. army, however great and however heavy the bombing, could likely have recovered these men by force.

The Mayaguez episode demonstrates the need, even in this day and age, of bases, such as the much-criticized station at Diego Garcia in the Indian Ocean. With the loss of bases in South Vietnam, and the threatened loss of our facilities in Thailand and the Philippines, there is an urgent need to explore the possibility of new points from which quick-strike forces of men, planes and ships may take off in one type of emergency or another.

At the same time, we should be ready, as in Thailand and the Philippines, to move out with all our forces immediately, when requested by host governments. Bases in countries which do not want us are worse than useless.

Such withdrawals have the added advantage of reducing our commitments — so that we can concentrate our obligations in those lands which are determined to fight for their own survival.

A prototype was seen in President Eisenhower's landing in Lebanon to forestall a take over — overt or covert — of that small country which could have snowballed with terrible effects.

This does not mean a program of repeated U.S. intervention. For a few instances of resolute but restrained American action, as in Lebanon and in the sea off Thailand, would make it again possible for an American president to warn off an aggressive power, as was so skillfully done by President Truman in ordering the Russians out of Northern Iran.

While it is unlikely that any U.S. president will again have that much influence on Moscow in the foreseeable future, the more immediate danger is from small fascist-type revolutionary regimes, such as Cambodia's. These exist in considerable number around the world today. More, seemingly, are about to be born.

Free Speech

Comes To Campus

Good news for a change. Unlike many stories concerning politics on the campus, this one has a happy ending.

George Gilder, an estimable young man, is the author of the books "Sexual Suicide" and, now, "The Naked Nomads." When it developed that he had been invited to speak at Dartmouth, an instant outcry went up from a kind of informal caucus of radicals on the faculty.

Gilder was to be sponsored by an outfit called the Tucker Foundation, a vaguely religious organ of the college which had been sponsoring a series of feminist speakers. At the mention of Gilder, however, the radical faculty exploded in protest. One philosophy professor, a Marlene Freid, publicly called Gilder a "hate monger" and compared him with William Shockley, who, indeed, had been shouted down at Dartmouth a few years ago. This kind of billingsgate prevailed, and the Tucker Foundation caved in and canceled Gilder, later explaining that such as he would not, for some reason, advance its "pastoral" mission.

But what is it that is so unacceptable about Gilder's position, so unacceptable that it would be unthinkable for him to state his case on a college campus?

He is reasonable in his style of discourse. He appeals to ascertainable fact in laying out his arguments. He accepts and answers critical questions. So there is no formal problem here.

Gilder maintains, however, that there are biological differences between men and women and that these are profoundly related to the roles they play in this and indeed in all historical societies.

He thinks that the family is the foundation of society and that the weakening of the family brings about social disintegration. Interestingly enough, he arrived at that view through studying conditions in the ghetto. Ironically, he feels that the disintegration he found in the ghetto is being reproduced at the other end of society, among the affluent, where for different reasons the family bonds are loosening. Gilder argues that the male actually needs marriage more than the female. Statistics prove it. Single men over 25 have a mortality rate three times that of married men and four times higher than women.

Single men are three times more likely to die of a heart attack, four times more likely to commit suicide, and seven times more likely to commit a crime than married men. As compared with single women, the single males' situation is, objectively, worse.

Within the family, Gilder argues, the male needs the role of "provider" for reasons rooted in biology. The female has a profound involvement with child-bearing and -rearing. The male is much more loosely linked. Unless he has the "provider" role, he is, relatively, useless. The "provider" role attaches him to the future, and disciplines him. Women, in contrast, do not need success in the marketplace.

To the feminist demand for careers of women, Gilder replies, in effect, okay, but remember that most jobs are not particularly fulfilling. The feminist seems to assume that "people are generally doctors." This is an elitist illusion, says Gilder. Most jobs are largely routine and pretty restrictive. A valid feminist movement, Gilder thinks, would concern itself with exalting the roles and special capabilities of women instead of having them imitate men.

Now this story does have a happy ending, because George Gilder did come to Dartmouth, and made all of the above points to an overflow audience, "the liveliest crowd I've ever faced."

After the initial cancellation, three separate campus organizations re-invited Gilder.

Downtown First Beneficiary Of HUD Grant To SJ

A $71,000 grant for the first year of the federally-financed Community Development program in St. Joseph has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Fourth District U.S. Rep. Edward Hutchinson of St. Joseph announced the approval from his Washington, D.C., office, Wednesday.

Community Development programs will begin across the country July 1, based on grants to finance projects currently handled by several programs, that will end. These include Model Cities, neighborhood development and urban renewal. St.

Joseph City Manager G.W. (Jerry) Heppler said the city anticipates a cash flow of about $280,000 under Community Development, scheduled to run five years. Heppler said St. Joseph expects $71,000 for each of the first three years and lesser amounts the final two years.

Heppler said he was pleasantly surprised over the grant approval announcement, because it came sooner than expected. Heppler said St. Joseph was eligible for Community Development funds, because of its completed urban renewal program. A St. Joseph citizens' group earlier met several months to establish priorities for the first year of Community Development.

The first year's priority will be in the downtown business area, Heppler noted. He said the $71,000 will finance a survey to determine if the central business district is large enough, whether it can be expanded, whether parking is adequate or inadequate and what to do about more parking, if more is needed. Open spaces for beautification also are sought, Heppler said, noting that the survey will take a look at the Silver beach area. Former amusement park structures are being razed, but the property is privately owned. Heppler said the area could still possibly fit into an open spaces design.

Rep. Hutchinson said:

"The grant is made under the authority of the Community Development Act of 1974 and is intended to restore and revitalize existing neighborhoods through rehabilitation, land acquisition and demolitions, and also to undertake a downtown development plan study to help prevent blight in commercial areas." Heppler said little, if any demolition or land acquisition in residential areas is planned for St. Joseph, and if it were, the initial $71,000 would not go far in this area.

Seven 'Companies' Toast Liquidation

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

It's unusual for company officers to hold a special banquet honoring the liquidation of their company, but that is just what seven Twin Cities industries did last night.

The Twin Cities "industries" are run by 188 teenage Junior Achievement members who run the "miniature" companies from capitalization to liquidation from October to May with the aid of volunteer adult advisers from area business and industry.

The companies went out of business because they had completed their year as manufacturing firms of Junior Achievement of Blossomland, Inc.

The seven Junior Achievement companies, made up of high school students from Benton Harbor, Lakeshore, Lake Michigan Catholic and St. Joseph, sold more than $6,562 worth of products. Profit for the seven companies before taxes amounted to $406.

Junior Achievement operates at 813 Highland avenue, St. Joseph. This year's operation was the third under sponsorship of Junior Achievement of Blossomland, Inc. Awards were presented at the "Future Unlimited" banquet last night at Lake Michigan College.

Robert Starks, president of the JA board of directors, announced at the banquet that Patrick Doolan, manufacturing research engineer for Whirlpool Corp., will replace Howard Nahlikian, as JA program director effective June 1. Nahlikian, who has been program director for three years, said he was resigning the position because of business and personal reasons. He was honored at the banquet.

Speakers at the banquet were Dr. Joseph Naines, Whirlpool Corporate economist, and Marilyn Schmitz, national training representative for Whirlpool kitchen products. The two presented the corporation's "Speak Up, Speak Out" program in which 14 JA members were organized into a panel discuss problems of business.

The talks were on the image of big busif and the responsibilities that will face JA members as they enter the business world. Dr. Naines said that the JA members were the "brick and mortar in building a better business image."

In explaining recent polls on the public's view of big business, Mrs. Schmitz said that the image of business had constantly fallen since 1971. She said the public no longer felt that there was a balance between businesses' profits and service to the public and that business has to delegate responsibility and power but also have a "conscience."

Among awards presented to Achievers were: Achiever scholarships of $500 each to Jane Hudson and Joel Mattox, both seniors at Lakeshore high school. Judging is based 50 per cent on performance in Junior Achievement and 50 per cent on scholastic achievement in high school.

Enrollment for 1975-76 is expected to be slightly over 400 in Stock said the driver education program, previously conducted by the high school, will be split between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph high schools with students living in their respective public school districts taking classes there. Previously the program was conducted at Lake Michigan Catholic with the program financed by the state through St. Joseph.

The board voted to continue to pay half of the band director's salary with the band boosters to pay the other half. This is the same arrangement as that of last year.

Innocent

A Benton Harbor woman was found innocent of welfare fraud by a Berrien Fifth District court jury Tuesday.

Found innocent following the all-day trial was Lila Joy Knapp, 39, of 400 Parker avenue, Benton Harbor. She had been charged with fraudulently receiving $274 in ADC funds because of her alleged failure to report child support payments received from May to September of 1974.

Mrs. Knapp had been tried earlier in District court on the misdemeanor charge in March. The outcome of the first trial was a mistrial due to a hung jury.

Atty. Gary Hoshorn defended the woman while Asst. Prosecutor Thomas Gesso presented the state's case.

SJ Board Hears Charges Against Mrs. Salvatore

St. Joseph board of education Wednesday heard testimony that teacher Bernadine Salvatore was frequently tardy and neglected her duties as adviser to the Honeybears, a pom pon dancing group.

High School Principal Richard Higgs testified nearly three hours on charges he filed against Mrs. Salvatore to have her fired.

Mrs. Salvatore, a physical education instructor, asked for a public hearing under provisions of the Michigan teachers tenure act. The hearing opened last night before a capacity crowd of more than 200 in the high school cafeteria.

The board scheduled the second session of the hearing June 2 at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria. The board sits as judge and jury and is required to bring in a decision whether Mrs. Salvatore should be retained or fired 15 days after the end of the hearing.

Higgs filed seven charges against Mrs. Salvatore. The charges were first made public last night. They are:

1. Failure to report to work on time.
2. Failure to be at teaching post in gym on time and for full period of instruction.
3. Excessive use of "leave the building" request forms.
4. Abused personal business leave request Feb. 7.
5. Failure to uphold responsibilities as Honeybears' adviser.
6. Inability to work professionally with other members of the physical education department.
7. Misuse of student, monitors.

Charge No. 7 was dropped when Atty. Thomas Combs of Kalamazoo, counsel for Higgs, indicated they didn't want to give counsel for Mrs. Salvatore an opportunity to question students.

The charge alleged that Mrs. Salvatore had students perform personal errands and actually teach class.

Atty. Michael Cook, counsel for Mrs. Salvatore, said denying him the opportunity to question class monitors deprived the hearing of witnesses who were present during periods when Mrs. Salvatore was alleged to have been late or absent. Cook said the monitors are seniors and capable of testifying.

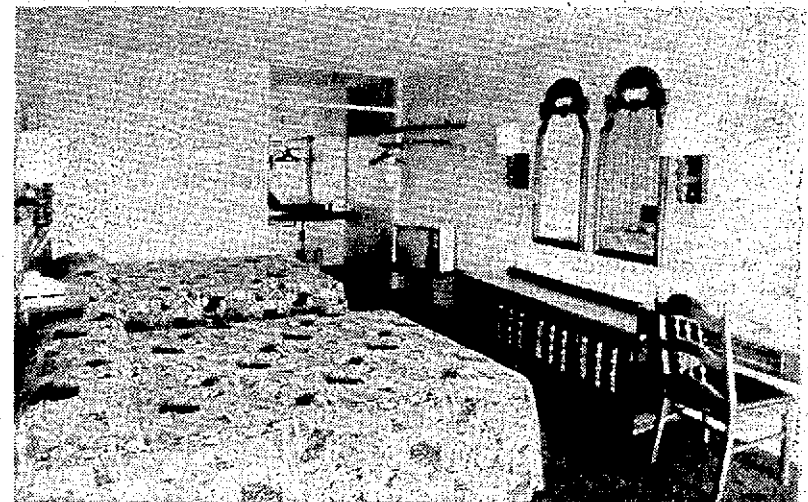

Cook moved for a mistrial on grounds that evidence had been introduced on a charge that subsequently was withdrawn. Cook also moved for a directed verdict for Mrs. Salvatore on charge 3 and dismissal of part of charge 5.

The board took the motions under advisement.

Cook said in his opening remarks Mrs. Salvatore did break some rules, but they were not serious enough to warrant dismissal.

Higgs testified he had written letters to Mrs. Salvatore about her alleged tardiness.

Higgs said he had relieved

Mrs. Salvatore as Honeybears' adviser because she was not always present, left arrangements for a dance to students and her assistant, cancelled Honeybear practice excessively and used unprofessional language on the telephone with Mrs. Belind Mulberry, a paid Honeybear worker.

Higgs testified that Mrs. Salvatore abused a personal leave request Feb. 7 by attending a tennis tournament in Ohio instead of the stated purpose of a visitation to North Canton, Ohio, high school.

Attend AAUW Convention

"Stability In Motion — Awareness, Action, Understanding" was the theme of the American Association of University Women's 53rd annual meeting held at the Park Place Motor Inn, Traverse City.

Those attending from the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph branch of AAUW were Mrs. Vance A. Fisher, Mrs. O.I. Harju, Mrs. Anthony Niewyk, Mrs. L.F. Schweitzer, Mrs. Melvin Thomsen and Mrs. Emanuel VonKoenig.

Maxine Thorson, member of the board of directors of AAUW and AAUW educational foundation, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., gave the keynote address.

Thorson, chairman of the centennial fund and fellowships program committees said, "In AAUW one has the ingredients to get results: (1) a large membership intent on keeping themselves informed about, involved with and committed to education, (2) leaders with experience and accomplishment in volunteer social action, and

(3) the ideas, imagination and enthusiasm to meet the needs of women in a changing society."

AAUW, on the association level, sponsored a "Women's Author Project." Its goal is to demonstrate abilities of women writers, exhibit books at state and national conventions and sell books, with the proceeds to go to the fellowships foundation.

Two copies of a book of poetry, "The Silence of the Rose," written by Gwendolyn Niles, member of the local AAUW, were donated. One copy was on exhibit and then sold at the state convention and the second copy will be on display and then sold at the National AAUW convention in Seattle, Wash.

Four new topics to be studied by the association branches for the next two years will include "The 21st Century — Deciding Now," "Economic Facts of Life: Living With Less," "World Pluralism: The Human Encounter" and "Society and the Individual: Conformity Vs. Creativity."

Consider Children's Safety Before Memorial Day Driving

Did you know that the driver of an automobile has more to do than an airplane pilot? This is especially true as warm weather brings more cars onto the road.

Here are a few things to ponder before you hit the road this Memorial Day to begin your summer excursions and travels:

According to the National Safety Council, traffic deaths over three-day holiday weekends run 15 to 20 per cent higher than fatalities on the days just before or after a holiday. So, consider leaving early and returning after the holiday rush. The National Safety Council has determined that 14,000 lives could be saved annually if the occupants of passenger cars wore seat belts at all times.

However, if you plan to travel with children this summer, you should be aware that children under 43 pounds simply are not large enough to wear adult seat belts. In fact, in the event of a collision, adult seat belts can cause severe internal injuries to youngsters whose pelvic structures are not fully developed.

Shoulder harnesses also should not be worn by small children. Although they have proven to be highly effective safety devices for adults, until a child is 55 inches tall and has a sitting height of 24 inches, usually at about age 10, shoulder harnesses should not be used.

It is the driver's responsibility to be sure his passengers are properly belted!

Protection advised for children under 43 pounds is a molded, child restraint system that has been crash tested. A dynamically (moving) tested car seat insures that the first time the seat is crash tested is not in the family auto during a collision. One car seat, for example, is crash tested on a high energy impact sled which simulates a car traveling at 30 mph and hitting a brick wall or traveling at 60 mph and hitting a parked car.

In addition to being sure everyone is securely strapped in, the car seat manufacturers suggest you establish these safety rules for the road, which should apply for all trips — even short hops to the supermarket.

— The safety place for small children is in the back seat — in a restraint system, of course. For an infant under 17 pounds, his seat should be able to face the rear of the car, the safest position by far.

— Children should always enter and leave the car by the right side only, never the street side. Parents get out first.

— No standing on seats, front or back. No lying on back windows.

— Keep doors locked at all times. Windows no more than halfway down.

— Nothing may be thrown in the car.

— Noise should be kept at a minimum.

— Children should not play in the cargo section of a station wagon.

— Never hold a child on your lap — one of the most dangerous places in the event of a sudden stop or collision.

— Never strap child and adult into one seat belt, and don't strap several children together.

— Children may never touch the controls.

— Never leave children alone in the car.

— Don't drive and discipline at the same time. Pull off the road to deal with an unruly child.

— Beware of lollipops, ice cream bars and hard candies. In the case of lollipops, the stick may be jammed down a child's throat in a sudden stop; hard candies may be swallowed, causing choking.

CHECK THE CAR. There's enough to worry about when you're traveling. Don't add the aggravation of things going wrong mechanically. Check: steering, brakes, tires, hoses, belts, engine, shock absorbers, wheel alignment, lights and wipers.

Lastly, some misconceptions about accidents, that should be cleared up.

— Most people direct their concern to head-on collisions. Actually, most accidents are not head-on collisions. In fact, half of all accidents don't involve a second car at all.

— Another misconception people have is that they can reach out and grab a child on the front seat when they see an accident coming. Don't you believe it. You won't see the accident coming because most occur and are over in three seconds or less. In addition, trying to hold back a 30 pound child is quite a feat. The force of impact at 20 mph generates enough force to make a 30 pound youngster in effect weigh 600 pounds.

Set Theatre Activities In Lakeshore Area

Community Theatre Schedule Announced

Lakeshore Community Theatre will present the musicals, "Gypsy" and "Music Man" this summer.

The program, which is in its second season, will run nine weeks from June 16 to Aug. 9.

"Music Man" will be presented July 11 and 12 and "Gypsy" will be presented Aug. 8 and 9. Ken and Patricia Lindahl will be managing directors for the summer program.

This year LCT will be sponsored by the Lakeshore public schools and area merchants. The program is open to all ages throughout the southwestern Michigan area.

Payment of the $5 registration fee is a pre-requisite to audition and should accompany a registration form. All participants will receive two complimentary tickets to the show of their choice and have the option of participating in one both shows.

All registrations should be completed and sent to Lakeshore Community Theatre, in care of Lakeshore high public schools by May 31. Registration forms are available at Lakeshore high school.

The Lindahls say the program is designed to create a "summer stock" type of atmosphere which will give the participants an intensive experience in creating theatre. Under the guidance of the staff, the members of the company will be acting, singing, dancing, building costumes, constructing scenery, running box office and stage managing. All members will be expected to handle crew assignments in addition to whatever their major interest might be.

All rehearsals and productions will be held in the air conditioned Lakeshore high school auditorium. There will be a meeting Monday, June 18, at 7 p.m. for an explanation of the summer program which participants must attend.

Auditions for both musicals will be held at the auditorium June 17 and 18 at 7 p.m. Rehearsals for "Music Man" will begin June 19 and will be held evenings Monday through Friday. Rehearsals for "Gypsy" will begin July 7.

Children's Workshop

Tentative plans are underway for a Children's Workshop in Theatre to be offered for all elementary students in grades three through six for two weeks in June.

Although the program would be offered by the Lakeshore public schools, all elementary children in the area would be eligible to attend.

The amount of interest shown in the program would determine if it is to be offered.

The workshop would be an informal activity in which children will be guided to express themselves. The program will include charades, pantomimes, improvisations, vocal technique, diction, characterization, movement, skits, oral interpretation, elementary stage craft and puppet making.

Classes would meet from 10 to 11:15 a.m. Monday through Thursday June 16 through 26. Classes will be held in Lakeshore high school auditorium.

A fee of $10 per child will be required. Registration forms are available at the Lakeshore high school administration office.

90 Years Old

Mrs. Ralph (Mabel) Schaub, 90 years old, was honored at a surprise party May 14 in celebration of her 90th birthday.

A family dinner was also held in her honor May 18 at her home.

Mrs. Schaub was born near Mitchell, S.D., May 14, 1885, the daughter of Chapman and Ella Piggott. The family moved to this area in 1886 living most of the time on Townline road, Benton Harbor. The home farm is now part of Clark Equipment Company.

In October of 1905, she married Ralph Schaub in Sodus township.

The couple had two children, Mrs. Carroll (Lillie) Cox, who along with her husband resides with Mrs. Schaub, and Merlin W. Schaub, Meadowbrook road, Benton Harbor, six grandsons, and 13 great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Schaub were fruit farmers all their married life and celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary in 1973. Mr. Schaub died March 9, 1974.

Mrs. Schaub likes to reminisce about her childhood in South Dakota where she rode her pony over the prairie and watched the Indians traveling across the Piggott homestead from one Indian reservation to another.

She also enjoys talking about the Corn Palace in Mitchell and the show the Indians staged there.

Mrs. Schaub has been a member of First Baptist church, Benton Harbor, for over 40 years but is no longer able to attend services.

Wash Car Now

The first job after a thorough spring inspection of your car is a good cleaning.

Deterioration of the finish comes especially fast if the salt and road grime of winter stick to your car, auto care specialists advise.

Loose dirt and grit will come off with a good washing, using a lid detergent, cool water and a sponge. But stay away from strong detergents because they may harm the finish.

The washing process should start at the top and end at the wheels.

Baha'i Event Friday

Baha'is of the twin city area will join Baha'is around the world Friday, May 23, to observe the Declaration of the Bab and the 132nd anniversary of the birth of the Baha'i Faith.

On May 23, 1844, in Shiraz, Iran (then Persia) a young man, known as the Bab (Gate), announced his mission as a prophet of God and as heralding the beginning of a new universal cycle and a new age for mankind. He also asserted that the coming of a greater prophet from God was at hand whose coming would fulfill the prophecies of all the great religions.

Because of his teachings, Baha'is spokesmen say, the Bab and his followers were persecuted by the Muslim clergy. These persecutions persisted during his imprisonment and banishment and culminated in his public martyrdom in 1850 at Tabriz, Iran. Some 20,000 of his followers were martyred during the early history of the faith.

The promised one foretold by the Bab, Baha'is believe, is Baha'u'llah, founder of the Baha'i Faith. Baha'u'llah's name means "The Glory of God."

On Mt. Carmel in the Holy Land is a golden-domed shrine which overlooks the Bay of Haifa. Within this edifice are the holy remains of the Bab. The world center of the Baha'i Faith is also located on Mt. Carmel.

Decorating Trends

BY MIKE LANNELLI

INDOOR-OUTDOOR CARPETING doesn't sound like a contradiction in terms any more, but it is still a remarkable decorating development. And it is one you can adapt to fit your home's individual needs and problems.

Indoors, the new indoor-outdoor carpets are at home in many areas . . . kitchens, bathrooms, . . . floor hallways, stairways, children's rooms, entries, hobby rooms that collect a lot of litter, and many other places where economical, hard-wearing and easily cleanable carpets will make your rooms more livable.

These carpets brighten and beautify, cut down on "noise pollution," and reduce floor care. Instead of waxing and polishing and cleaning, a quick once-over with the vacuum does it.

Outdoors, these new carpets are just as versatile. Cut them to fit your porch or patio. Turn a bare deck into an outdoor "living room" or add color and beauty anywhere. They'll stand up to weather, shed rain, and protect the surfaces they cover.

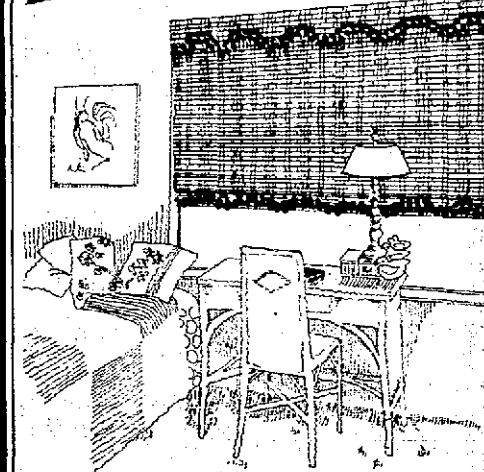

The right carpet for the area or room, indoors or out, is always the best value. Come in and let us show you our huge selection in every fiber, every color, every color range. We have the right carpet for your needs. . . priced right.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Sex Life Is Private Affair

Dear Ann Landers: I am 29. My brother is 23. My sister is 23. We are all happily married and have children.

Mother always "confided" in us the details of her sex life with dad. When we were growing up she would alternately complain and praise him on his performances. None of us was particularly interested. I had an idea such matters should be kept private, but I never said anything. I just listened, even though I was uncomfortable.

Now that we are married, Mom is always after us to tell her about OUR sex lives. My brother informed her it was none of her business. My sister and I decided he was right and decided to do the same. This has created a serious rift. Mom insists we are "hung up" and should seek psychiatric help. According to her, sex is a normal and natural part of life and should be discussed openly and freely without embarrassment. Her basic argument is, "I always told YOU everything. Why are you reluctant to tell me?"

Please, Ann. Give us your views. Is a psychiatrist in order? — We Three

Dear Three: Yes. For your mother. She should have gone to one long ago to find out why she had the need to discuss with her children matters that should have been kept strictly between her and her husband.

You three are correct to refuse to discuss your sex lives with your mother. I can't think of a subject that is less her business.

Give 'Em A Break

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a high school teacher who can't keep quiet now that I've read the letter from "Mind Of My Own."

My heart aches for the parents of that girl. Nine months later, they'll be forced by conscience (or whatever) to raise the baby she couldn't "bear to give up."

How unfair to saddle parents with an infant just at the time in their lives when they have earned the right to enjoy themselves and be free of diapers, bottles, cribs — not to mention the expense that goes with raising a child.

I've seen dozens of pregnant teenagers who insisted on keeping their babies even though the boyfriend didn't want to get married, denied he was the father, and the girl couldn't prove it.

I say to every young girl who finds herself in this fix, please have some consideration for your parents. Go to a home for unwed mothers. (Your doctor will guide you.) Give six people a break — the baby, yourself, your parents, and some childless couple who would be thrilled out of their minds to take a newborn infant into their home. — Seen Too Much

Dear Seen: Good advice. I hope somebody out there listens.

Not Worth Fight

Dear Ann Landers: The woman who signed her letter "Mistress To A Beautiful Hunk

ANN LANDERS

Of Man" sounds like the dummy my husband has been sneaking around with.

She can have him. I've packed his clothes and begged him to get out, but he always ends up bawling and says he can't face life without me and the kids. I must be as crazy as he is because I love the skunk and am willing to keep him till he gets the foolishness out of his system. Since you ran HER letter-I hope you'll run mine. Thanks. — His Wife

Dear Wife: I received 20 letters from wives who all believe the letter was intended for THEM. Don't fight, girls. He isn't worth it.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NAPH Elects Officers

MISS AUDREY FALKNER

NEW TROY — River Valley Chapter of the National Association of the Physically Handicapped has elected Miss Audrey Falkner of Niles as president.

Other officers elected are Harry Garrelts, Dowagiac, vice president; Mrs. Naomi Lee, Galien, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Klug, Buchanan, corresponding secretary, and Richard Lee, Galien, treasurer.

The association's purpose is the betterment and welfare of the physically handicapped, and is open to non-handicapped persons as well as handicapped persons.

Meetings are held once a month in the River Valley high school library.

Dr. Lester Coleman

When is it necessary to reduce the amount of salt in the diet?

Mr. J. M., Wash.

Dear Mr. M.: In some forms of heart disease, high blood pressure and kidney disorders a low salt, or low sodium, diet is suggested.

Salt is sodium chloride. It is the sodium factor that has a tendency to retain fluid in the body.

Many people who are on a salt-free diet may overlook the fact that baking soda, carbonated drinks, some laxatives and many processed foods contain sodium. Consequently, their attempts to limit their salt intake can be cancelled out by these hidden sources of salt.

I once read that X-rays are used to get rid of superfluous hair on the face. Where can I find such a treatment?

Miss R.E.E., Ill.

Dear Miss E.: Stop looking. About 50 years ago, long before the knowledge of X-rays was advanced, they were used as a method of "epilation" for the removal of excess hair.

Unfortunately, many people exposed to this process developed cancer of the skin of the face. Marked scarring occurred, too.

This unsafe method has been totally discarded. The simple, safe method of electrolysis will help you with your problem.

Mr. H.B., Ga.

Dear Mr. B.: Calcium deposits in the fluid of the bursa, or sac, of the shoulder joint are the result of some inflammation or irritation.

Bursitis is a very painful inflammation which often is associated with calcium deposits. Uric acid (which is not as readily recognized by X-rays) also can cause painful motion of the shoulder.

Not all calcium deposits demand surgery. Sometimes calcium can be broken up by injections of the anesthetic, procaine, and with cortisone.

With rest and treatment the calcium is usually absorbed.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "What to Do About Ulcers." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Ulcer Booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

The bidding has been: 2

By Oswald & James Jacoby

"South had been taught to say 'Thank you, partner' irrespective of what cards his partner put down as dummy. This time the dummy was well worth that polite, but unnecessary remark.

When the hand was over and South had been set, North remarked, 'It is a shame they taught you politeness instead of bridge.'

South's play had been short and unsuccessful. He won the club in dummy and led a trump.

West took his ace and led a second club. East was unkind enough to ruff and that was all there was.

Just a little thought before playing to trick two might well have warned South of his danger. A little more thought would have shown him how to guard against a club ruff.

It wouldn't have to be much thought at all. Just a quick look at dummy's king of hearts.

Then South could have led a heart to his ace, cashed his ace of diamonds, ruffed his low diamond, discarded his last club on the king of hearts and then gone after trumps with the club danger a thing of the past.

Ypsilanti Hospital Escapee Held In Houston

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — A 39-year-old man once known as the "phantom sniper of Royal Oak" has been arrested for a series of sex crimes in Houston, Tex.

Gary Addison Taylor, classified by Michigan police as an escapee from Ypsilanti State Hospital, was arrested without incident Tuesday by nine Houston police officers.

Taylor was named in three Houston warrants charging aggravated rape, aggravated sexual abuse and attempted rape. Since his arrest, Taylor has been named in two more warrants on charges of sexual abuse.

Taylor is being held on $100,000 bond in Houston for the first three charges. Bond was denied on the last two charges, according to Houston Assistant District Attorney Allen L. Stille.

Ann Arbor Police said Wednesday that Taylor may be linked with the 1973 disappearance of Sandra Horwath from her Ann Arbor apartment. Mrs. Horwath left her three small children, her clothes and car behind when she disappeared, police said.

In March 1974, Taylor left Michigan rather than continue therapy sessions at the Ypsilanti State Hospital Center for Forensic Psychiatry, where he had been under periodic treatment. Early this year, State Police classified him as an escapee from the Ypsilanti center.

Taylor was first arrested in Oakland County in 1957 following nine sniper attacks on women and girls in the Royal Oak area. He was committed to the Ionia State Hospital in 1957, where a three-member team of psychiatrists said Taylor admitted previous beatings of 20 women in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Taylor spent nine years in Ionia. Transferred to Lafayette Clinic in Detroit and permitted to leave the grounds, Taylor allegedly attacked a 39-year-old woman and her mother with an 18-inch butcher knife. He was sent back to Ionia Hospital.

In 1966, Taylor returned to Oakland County to stand trial for the 1957 shootings. He was found innocent by reason of insanity and sent to Ionia. He was transferred to the forensic center in Ypsilanti in 1970.

Records show Taylor was allowed overnight leaves from the hospital beginning in July 1971. He participated in vocational rehabilitation and was released in July 1972 for convalescent leave with the restriction that he report for periodic therapy, which he did until October 1973.

Officials said Taylor, contacted in Onsted in March 1974, agreed to resume treatment. But, instead, Taylor left the state, violating his leave restriction, authorities said.

Policeman Charged In Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit police officer was charged Wednesday with the beating death of a bar patron during a fight last July on the city's West Side.

Michael Matuzak, 26, was charged with manslaughter in the death of Thomas Bruce of Dearborn. Bruce received head injuries and died in October.

The fight began when Matuzak and two other officers tried to cite the bar for serving liquor after hours, police said.

Matuzak, on the force for three years, has been suspended from the department. He turned himself in to homicide detectives after the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office issued a warrant for his arrest.

The other officers were not charged.

Two bar patrons involved in the incident were acquitted last week in Recorder's Court on charges of obstructing justice.

Matuzak is free on personal bond.

ON SEPT. 22, 1776 the British captured Nathan Hale and hanged him as a spy. As New York's fire burned over 300 buildings, Gen. Howe's anger rose. When confronted by Hale, a self-admitted spy, Howe ordered him hanged without trial. Hale asked for a clergyman and then a Bible but was turned down. When the noose was slipped around his neck, Hale reportedly uttered the now famous words: "I only regret I have but one life to lose for my country." The World Almanac notes.

The Aftermath Of Tuesday Storm

CANCELS FISHING TRIP: High winds Tuesday night uprooted camper of Jesse Adams, 234 South Crystal avenue, Benton township, and launched it into aluminum tool shed. Adams said he had planned to take camper on fishing expedition this weekend, but now must spend time getting camper and shed back in shape. Only minor damage occurred to camper, which was on stands.

LOSES TOP: Sections of roofing were strewn across ground yesterday as major portion of roof of Blossomland Container Corp., 1852 East Empire, Benton township, was blown off as a result of high winds Tuesday night. Only metal sheeting was left on one-half of building, James Barricklow, company president, said water damage occurred in offices. Barricklow said plant appears to be jinxed. Plant burned down in 1970. No injuries were reported when roof blew off. Three workers were in plant at time. (Staff photos)

AMA Urges Doctors To Return

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The president of the American Medical Association says the work slowdown by doctors in California over rising malpractice insurance costs has proved its point, and he urged them to go back to work.

Dr. Malcolm Todd of Long Beach, Calif., an area heavily affected by the malpractice protest, said Wednesday the continuing boycott will create "utter chaos" if it continues.

Protesting doctors, led by anesthesiologists, have been off the job in some areas of northern California since May 1, shutting down all but essential surgery and curtailing other hospital services. Some southern California doctors have joined the protest.

"They've carried the strike far enough," Todd told a staff symposium at Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach.

He said the doctors should go back to work and offer a deadline for a solution by the state legislature, which is holding a special session on reform in the malpractice insurance field.

In New York, Gov. Hugh Carey signed into law Wednesday legislation designed to avert a malpractice insurance crisis in his state.

The law provides for creation of a pool of some 200 private insurance companies to replace Argonaut Insurance Co. when it goes out of the malpractice business in New York after July 1. It also limits the right of patients to sue and sets up a government agency to weed out incompetent doctors.

Similar legislation was signed into law in Florida Tuesday. And Tennessee passed malpractice legislation earlier this week.

Meat Will Be Higher

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Consumers probably will pay higher prices for hamburger and steaks in the near future because of an increase in wholesale and live cattle prices this week.

Cattle were selling at their highest level in 20 months as prices on Monday moved as much as $2 more per hundredweight than the previous week on the nation's major livestock markets.

As a result, shoppers probably will be paying a dime more for a pound of hamburger than they were at the beginning of the month, said Larry Duewer, a U.S. Agriculture Department economist in Washington.

TOPPLED: Huge tree at edge of St. Joseph Congregational church parking lot, Niles avenue, St. Joseph, was toppled by high winds during storm shortly after 7 Tuesday night. Large area of city east of Niles avenue from Mohawk lane north to Milton junior high school was without electricity 5½ hours starting at 7 p.m.

Laos Regime Will Ask U.S. To Shut Down Aid Program

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Communist-dominated Laotian government has decided to ask Washington to pull the U.S. Agency for International Development out of Laos and hand over all aid material in the country, a government spokesman told a news conference today.

The spokesman, Deputy Information Minister Ouday Savannavong, said his government still wants American economic assistance with "no strings attached."

Although no plans for the evacuation of the 1,000 Americans still in Laos were announced yet by the U.S. Embassy, one American official said families of American government employees have been told to be ready to leave the country by Friday.

The government decision to end the American aid program followed two weeks of anti-American demonstrations in Vientiane, Luang Prabang and Savannakhet, on the Mekong river in southeast Laos. Students demanding the expulsion of all AID personnel have been the leaders of the demonstrations.

Troops of the Communist Pathet Lao are keeping several hundred Americans virtually prisoner in a U.S. housing settlement four miles outside Vientiane. Inside the city, about 200 students have been occupying the AID compound since Monday and are holding two U.S. Marine guards and an American civilian prisoner.

Twelve Americans, most of them AID employees, and six other foreigners have been held under loose house arrest in Savannakhet for a week.

Ouday said the cabinet was "really, seriously concerned" about the takeover of the AID compound in Vientiane and "will make every effort to avoid trouble in the compound."

He said two cabinet ministers met twice with the students Wednesday but were unable to end the demonstration.

Ouday added that there was no new word from Savannakhet, and "the government is greatly concerned about the fate of the Americans." Pathet Lao troops entered the town on Tuesday, and on Wednesday Interior Minister Phong Phonsavan flew there to try to get the foreigners out. The Americans reported earlier that they had not been harmed and were in no danger.

CHARGED: James Clark, 17, was charged Wednesday after witnesses named him as the killer and ballistics tests showed his rifle was used in the Monday night slaying of a Chicago policeman. Patrolman Joseph Cali, 31, was shot fatally as he wrote a parking ticket on Chicago's West Side. (AP Wirephoto)

Ford May Invoke His Energy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, irked because Congress has not acted on energy legislation, may go ahead with plans to remove price controls from domestic oil and add another $1-a-barrel tariff on imported oil.

"The President and his advisers are in agreement that action is needed soon in the energy field if this nation is to become self-sufficient in oil," Press Secretary Ron Nessen said.

Nessen said, the President might take some action before he leaves for a European trip next Wednesday.

Ford met with his energy and economic advisers for an hour late Wednesday. Nessen later reported several recommendations were made but no decisions were reached.

Asked if there was a sense of urgency at the meeting, Nessen replied:

"Clearly the reports that were in the paper this morning about the possibility of higher oil prices by the Arabs was reflected in the meeting. ... If the Arabs do raise prices again, it is another demonstration — and it was brought out at the meeting — that we are at their mercy as far as price and as far as supply goes."

Nessen was referring to news reports quoting U.S. officials Tuesday as saying the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is expected to boost oil prices by 10 per cent to 15 per cent when the 13 OPEC nations meet in September. Such an increase would add one or two cents to the price of a gallon of gasoline.

Nine Arrested In South Haven Area Drug Raid

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — Nine people were arrested late last night and early today here as part of a continuing investigation by state and local police of alleged illegal drug sales in the South Haven area.

The arrests followed a five-month long investigation by undercover officers of the state police intelligence unit according to Lt. Glenn Foster, commander of the South Haven state police post and city police chief Otto Buelow.

Troopers from the South Haven and Paw Paw state police posts joined city of South Haven officers in arresting the five men and four women.

One of the nine was arrested on non-drug related charges that developed in part because of the investigation and from another case.

Warrants for each of the nine had been issued by Seventh District Court Judge Donald M. Goodwillie Jr., after being authorized by assistant Van Buren Prosecutor Steve Hamlin.

Authorities believe their investigation was of a major source of illegal drug sales in the South Haven area. One of the nine was believed to be selling $20,000 worth of drugs per month. An undercover officer was reported to have purchased heroin valued at $3,000 from one of the arrested, police said.

Two of the eight arrested are awaiting trial in Van Buren circuit court on charges of selling (delivery) narcotics in connection with a previous investigation.

Judge Goodwillie arraigned eight of the nine between 1 a.m. and 2:30 a.m. this morning. All demanded preliminary examinations and were ordered held in jail in lieu of posting bonds. The eight were:

Charlie Jackson, 55, M-140, Covert, two counts of delivery (sale) of heroin and carrying a concealed weapon, $115,000 bond.

Charlene Lasenby, 34, 529 Elkenburg street, South Haven, delivery (sale) of heroin, $50,000 bond.

Maria Chandler, 41, 10th avenue, South Haven, three counts of delivery (sale) of heroin, $150,000 bond.

Doris Ford, 24, 90 North Shore drive, South Haven, delivery (sale) of heroin, $50,000 bond.

Melvin Booker, 28, 201 Dryckman avenue, South Haven, assault without intent to murder and subordination to commit perjury, $40,000 bond. Booker was arrested in connection with an incident last Dec. 10 in which a state police trooper working undercover is alleged to have been threatened by a man with a gun. The perjury charge is in connection with an alleged attempt to get a witness in another case to give false information when testifying in court.

Harinda Flournoy, 27, 326 Michigan avenue, South Haven, one count of delivery (sale) of cocaine and PCP and two additional counts of delivery (sale) of PCP, $100,000 bond. Flournoy, who is awaiting trial in Van Buren circuit court on an earlier arrest for delivery of narcotics, will also be arraigned in 57th district court at Allegan on an additional charge of delivery (sale) of cocaine.

Karen (Mrs. Harinda) Flournoy, 17, 326 Michigan avenue, South Haven, delivery (sale) of PCP, $10,000 bond.

Michael Crow, 22, 109 Michigan avenue, South Haven, delivery (sale) of heroin, $50,000 bond. Crow is awaiting trial in Van Buren circuit court on an earlier arrest for delivery of narcotics.

Preliminary examinations for all suspects were scheduled for June 3.

The ninth person was identified as Robert Vanover, 24, Hartford, who was arrested on a charge of delivery (sale) of heroin. He is to be arraigned in court today.

Police said they recovered a gun during the investigation and booked Jackson on an additional charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

'Foul Play' Evidence Is Lacking

Benton Harbor police said today their investigation into the drowning of a man found in a stub of the old Benton Harbor ship canal "thus far has not revealed enough evidence to suspect foul play."

Det. Lt. Al Edwards said the man was identified as John Delano Robertson, 42, of Benton Harbor, through fingerprints sent to the regional crime laboratory, Holland.

Berrien Prosecutor John Smetanka said today there was not enough evidence to warrant continuing the investigation.

A possible witness was being held in Colorado yesterday, but Edwards said he will not be returned here.

Surviving John Delano Robertson are his father, James W. Robertson and a brother, W. W. Robertson, both of Guin, Ala.

The body was taken to the Norwood funeral home, Guin, where services will be held at a later date.

The Fairplain chapel, Florin funeral home was in charge of local arrangements.

James Darrell Floyd, Fond du Lac, Wis., was lodged in the Van Buren county jail in lieu of $5,500 after demanding preliminary examination on the charge, which was scheduled for May 29.

Mattawan Police Chief Richard Pathic said the arrest came after he had received a tip by telephone about midnight that someone was planning to burn the mobile home of Joan Wagner, Lot 13, Deal Mobile home park, Mattawan. He said he arrived on the scene just as the mobile home burst into flames, and captured a man seen running from the building.

New Lottery Game Considered

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Lottery Bureau is considering a $1 instant payoff game in which ticketbuyers could rub up the winning numbers with the edge of a coin. A $900,000 appropriation to start the game and buy 50 million of the special tickets won quick approval Wednesday from a House Appropriations subcommittee. In the new game, a person would buy a ticket with an "invisible" number which would become clear if rubbed with a coin or fingernail. To win, the ticketholder would have to match a number on the ticket with the hidden digits.

Gambling Operation Broken Up

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A major Lansing-area syndicated sports gambling operation has been broken up, according to the FBI and the State Police. The agencies announced Wednesday the indictment of 14 persons, most from the Lansing area, for alleged involvement in a $100,000-a-week betting scheme. All but three are in custody, authorities said. The other 11 were arraigned in Ingham County Circuit Court and released on $5,000 bond each. The indictments were handed down by a federal grand jury in Grand Rapids earlier this month. All of those named face a maximum penalty of 10 years in jail and a $30,000 fine if convicted.

Welch said the operation was conducted through various Lansing-area businesses. Named as the key figures were David Godbey, Lewis Johns and Bruce Shepard, all employees of the Capitol Recreation Club which Welch said was one center of the operation. Other offices of the gambling ring were located in Trenton and Battle Creek, he said.

Milliken's Budget Blasted

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken's budget proposal ignores the depth of the state's fiscal problems, says the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, said Wednesday that Milliken's 1973-76 budget proposals are either "under-funded or under-estimated." He said the committee might discover a total of as much as $50 million in extra funding needs. That would be in addition to the $81.4 million funding shortage identified in a report by the Senate Fiscal Agency. The executive office disputes the report. "This type of recommendation is neither realistic nor responsible," Hart said.

Consumers, Dow Disagree

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. will be unable to meet terms of a contract to provide Dow Chemical Co. with processed steam, Dow charged Wednesday. Dow said it has a contract with the Jackson-based utility to get processed steam from Consumers' Midland nuclear power plant. The steam would be used by Dow's sprawling Midland chemical complex. According to Consumers President John D. Selby, all the utility has received from Dow on the matter is a letter. "We believe we have a contract and we believe that we've lived up to its context," Selby said. "When this plant is built, we will be selling Dow processed steam."

Grime, Destruction In Rental Property Embitter Landlord

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Henry Duncan, 38, shook his head in disgust as he looked at a pile of garbage and took another whiff of the stench in his house at 880 Pearl street, Benton Harbor.

"Nope. I'm not going to rent it out anymore," he said.

The house at 880 Pearl, owned by Duncan, was extensively damaged. He also complained to police that an estimated $685 worth of items were stolen recently from the house. He claims both were the results of renting the house out.

"It was only the second time I had rented it out," he said.

Piles of garbage were scattered throughout and on the front steps of the red brick house. Windows were broken, glass scattered about and curtains ripped down. This was only part of the damage.

"I don't know who could do a thing like this. I just don't understand it," he said.

Duncan said the house was rented for the second time since he has owned it in April. He said the house was in good shape when a woman who told him she was receiving ADC payments moved in on April 27. He didn't require a security deposit.

Duncan said he rented the house for $180 a month while he lived with his brother at 840 Edgemoor avenue. He is presently laid off from work at Superior Steel Castings company.

"I drove by the house a few days after the woman moved in. I couldn't believe it, there were about 30 to 40 people in the house and sitting on the front porch," he said.

Shortly after this Duncan began to take steps to get the woman to move out. By this time several other people were living in the house, he said.

On May 12 he served the tenant a notice to quit, asking her to move in seven days. The tenant moved out Monday.

A notice to quit, according to Berrien Fifth District court, is the beginning of legal steps to get a tenant evicted. The notice is drawn up and served by the landlord, but the tenant does not have to move until legally evicted which can take months.

Typical of the problems encountered by Duncan was one involving a broken window. He said on Thursday of last week he went to the house and repaired a broken basement window.

"I returned a day or so later and the window was broken," he said as he held up a piece of moist putty that had not dried before the window was smashed again.

Duncan said he also had a spare room in the basement where he had locked and stored household items such as a color television, a record player and a vacuum cleaner. Most of the items were gone when he went to the house last weekend. He then filed a complaint with police.

Duncan called City Atty. Carl Cooper, who advised him to contact the Berrien prosecutor's office about the theft and to seek private counsel in a civil action for damage to the house.

"I'm not going to take any other chances. As soon as I get this place cleaned up I'm moving back in," he said.

Teacher Salaries: $13,702

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The average Michigan schoolteacher earns $13,702 annually and has 10 years of experience, the state Board of Education says.

Department statistics reveal the average teacher is 37 years old.

Of the 101,070 teachers employed by public schools this year, 63 per cent are women.

On the average, male teachers are slightly younger and earn more because a higher percentage of them have advanced degrees.

The average male teacher earns $14,226, compared with $13,394 for a woman. Nearly half the males have advanced degrees, compared with 31.5 per cent of the women.

The average school administrator is 46 years old, has had 18 years of experience and earns $19,189, according to the department. About 85 per cent are male.

Man Charged In Killing Of 3

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — A man accused of slaying three women Monday was released from the Saginaw County Jail last week after he tried to hang himself in his cell, authorities confirmed Wednesday.

John Mackley, 59, a Saginaw gasoline station operator, was arraigned in district court Tuesday before Judge Bruce Scorsone on three counts of murder. He was remanded to the county jail without bond to await a preliminary hearing. No date was set.

Mackley was accused of gunning down Donna Rondo, 46, described as his girl friend, and her two daughters, Tina, 12, and Deborah Sheldon, 24, of Belleville.

Saginaw County Prosecutor E. Brady Denton charged that Mackley shot Mrs. Rondo in her apartment and shot her two daughters as they waited in the family car for their mother.

No motive for the shooting has been disclosed by authorities.

A funeral mass will be sung Friday in St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Saginaw, for the three women. Burial will be in St. Andrews cemetery.

Police investigation disclosed Mackley was arrested May 19 on a charge of carrying a concealed handgun. They said it was not the same weapon used in the shooting.

Jail records showed that at 5:10 a.m., May 12, guards found Mackley had tried to hang himself in his cell. He was cut down quickly and apparently suffered no harm in the episode.

Assistant Prosecutor James Shinnars reported that he got a telephone call from the jail a few hours later, telling him of the suicide attempt and urging that Mackley be released because he had no police record.

Denton said Wednesday that Shinnars, after reviewing all the evidence, decided to release Mackley.

Jail officials said they had no knowledge of any calls to Shinnars.

All agreed that Mackley left the jail at mid-morning.

"It was six of one and half-a-dozen of the other," Denton said. "Frequently, a guy will try something like this to get out of jail. If the guy is not dangerous and has no previous record, sometimes we turn him loose."

Mackley also was arraigned Tuesday on the concealed weapons charge and was ordered held under $4,000 bond on that count.

Ann Arbor Woman Is Kidnaped

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Armed Africans have kidnaped three Stanford University students, including an Ann Arbor, Mich., woman and a Dutch national.

The quartet was abducted from an animal research center in western Tanzania, according to reports reaching here Wednesday. The Ann Arbor woman was identified as Barbara Smuts, 24.

The reports said the four were abducted Monday night from the Gombe Stream Reserve by 40 uniformed men who said they were from the Republic of Zaire across Lake Tanganyika.

The kidnapers, armed with machine guns, rifles and pistols, arrived and left in boats, the reports said.

A spokesman for Stanford identified the other Americans as Kenneth Stephen Smith, 22, Garden Grove, Calif.; Carrie Jane Hunter, 21, Atherton, Calif., and the Dutch national as Emilie Bergman.

Miss Smuts is the daughter of Robert Smuts, a senior public affairs executive of Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn, Mich. A company spokesman said Miss Smuts graduated with honors from Harvard University in 1972 and was working on an advanced degree at Stanford.

She graduated from Birmingham Seaholm High School.

A Stanford spokesman said the kidnap victims were among a group of about 30 students working at the reserve. Most of the students scattered and were unharmed, he said.

The U.S. State Department confirmed the names of the Americans, and said the other Stanford students at the research center would be evacuated.

The Gombe reserve, where the students were observing chimpanzees and baboons, is 500 miles from here on the eastern shore of Lake Tanganyika, which Zaire also borders.

The site also is near the border of Burundi, where military operations against dissidents were carried out early this month.

The U.S. Embassy has asked the Tanzanian government for help and a helicopter was sent to the scene.

The reports quoted eye-witnesses as saying the kidnapers were engaged in a fight by the local staff at the animal center. There were no serious injuries.

The animal center is directed by Jane Goodall, author of a number of books on animal behavior.

There was speculation that the kidnapers were part of a guerrilla movement operating in eastern Zaire against the government of President Mobutu Sese Seko.

Telephone Sick Calls Spreading

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Sick spells spread Wednesday to General Telephone Company's home division as more than half the operators and repairmen in the Muskegon area stayed home.

A spokesman for the utility said 272 of the 476 workers in those categories failed to report. He said many claimed they were sick.

The Muskegon walkouts brought the sick-in toll to nearly one-sixth of the utility's unionized workers as the firm tries to negotiate a new contract with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Two of the company's nine divisions have been hit with walkouts this week. But company officials said they expected all those off the job in the Three Rivers Division back by Wednesday afternoon.

From 100 to 200 workers were involved in the sick-ins at the Three Rivers division, which serves 16 southwestern Lower Michigan towns.

In all, as many as 472 of the firm's 2,900 union workers may have joined work stoppages that the utility insists were illegal.

The walkouts slowed operator-handled long distance calls plus installation and repair work. A company spokesman said it might be late Friday before repair and installation work in the Three Rivers Division returned to near normal.

ROAD TO PARKING LOT: Michigan Department of Natural Resources is in process of constructing road through southside of Warren Woods State park in Chikaming township, from Elm Valley road. It will go to parking lot to be built some 2,000 feet in, according to Robert Helmick, DNR parks division program planner. Cost of total project, being done to alleviate parking problems along roads bordering 310-acre nature area, is $34,500 and will be split equally between state and federal government. When Warren Foundation leased land to state, it was stipulated that northern two-thirds of land would remain untouched. Road and parking lot are being constructed in southern one-third portion of area. Construction is expected to be completed in August. (Don Wehner photo)

UPON THIS ROCK

"And when he had given thanks, he broke it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me."

1 Cor. 11:24

The night before his crucifixion Jesus instituted the "Lord's supper." He took emblems of the pasover meal, unleavened bread and fruit of the vine, and made them emblems of his body and his blood. They are not literally his body and his blood, only symbols in a memorial supper, to remind us of the sacrifice made for our salvation. We partake of them as Jesus said "in remembrance of me."

From history and the Bible (Acts 28:7) we know that the early Christians partook of this religious meal, not once a year or once a month, but every Sunday. Paul wrote, "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come." 1 Cor. 11:26.

When we eat the Lord's supper we show gratitude for his sacrifice and faith that he will come again.

We eat the Lord's supper every Sunday. It is a central part of our worship. We believe it is important, for the Lord himself said, "If you have any questions on this article please write to us."

His Graffiti File Runs From Sex To Religion

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Dr. Frank D'Angelo picked through his graffiti like a prospector after a nugget, pausing to exclaim: "Now, here's a good one."

"Remember when air was clean and sex was dirty?" He draws a chuckle from his visitor, and encouraged, switches to another page.

"Cinderella had a dirty foot. Picasso has a fragmented iris. Porky pig is a boar."

D'Angelo, an energetic 46-year-old English professor at Arizona State University, is a graffitiist, studying the anonymous scrawlings on public walls that serve as social commentary.

D'Angelo, whose more formal specialties are linguistics and rhetoric, collects the scrawled phrases and files them by category. "The largest categories are sex and religion," he says. Yanking open a file drawer with the religion folder, he reads:

"Goliath got stoned ... Moses was beating around the bush ... Some people count sheep, I talk to the shepherd."

The sex file yields its share of unprintables, but D'Angelo finds a few of his other favorites: "Chastity is its own punishment ... nobody loves you when you're old and gay ..."

Although D'Angelo laughs at each scribble as if he had discovered it for the first time, he's forever the scholar about it all.

His paper on "Sacred Cows Make Great Hamburgers: the Rhetoric of Graffiti," was printed in a journal for English scholars. In that article, he says graffiti can make excellent teaching tools.

D'Angelo uses graffiti brought in by students as a basis for his lectures on linguistics. He found that the student response was much better than when he had used more pedantic examples he made up himself or drew from texts.

"Graffiti are an index of the attitudes of a great many average Americans," D'Angelo says. "And more than the Gallup polls, they seem to reflect almost immediately the sense of what is going on in the country."

He whips out a folder, runs his hand through his silver hair for a moment and reads: "Nixon's Vietnamization plan got all LAOSed up...not Arizona beef, not LBJ baloney..."

Picking up a new book on his desk titled "The Conceptual Theory of Rhetoric," he said "Maybe two thousand or three thousand persons will read this book."

Then he tapped a manuscript he has written on the graffiti approach to the same subject: "Maybe 200,000 persons will read this."

CQ Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending May 15, were:

SENATE
Agency for Consumer Advocacy. The Senate paved the way for passage of the consumer agency bill by voting 71-27 — 11 more than needed for the three-fifths majority — to invoke cloture (limit debate) on a measure which would set up a new federal agency to represent consumer interests before other federal agencies and courts.

Opponents of the move to cut off debate and force a vote on the bill argued that the proposed consumer agency would add an unneeded new layer of bureaucracy that would harass businesses and that existing agencies should be improved instead.

Supporters of the measure contended that the new agency would provide consumers with a powerful, coherent voice in government for the first time, and that it would prod other agencies to act more responsibly.

The consumer agency bill subsequently passed the Senate by a substantial margin.

Voting to invoke cloture on consumer agency bill: Hart (D).

Voting not to invoke cloture on consumer agency bill: Griffin (R).

Labor-Management Exemption. By a 37-51 vote, the Senate refused to remove from the consumer advocacy agency bill a provision exempting labor-management negotiations.

Opponents of the exemption contended that it was a special interest provision added to win the support of organized labor. Most of the bill's backers defended the exemption on the grounds that labor-management disputes do not directly involve marketplace transactions and thus should not be within the agency's jurisdiction.

Voting for labor-management exemption: Hart (D).

Voting against labor-management exemption: Griffin (R).

HOUSE
Farm Price Supports. By a 245-182 vote — 40 votes short of the required two-thirds majority — the House failed to override President Ford's veto of a bill to raise target prices and loan rates on the 1975 crops of wheat, cotton, corn and other feed grains and to set dairy price supports at 80 per cent of parity with quarterly adjustments.

President Ford vetoed the bill on grounds that it would cause the federal deficit to exceed the $80-billion ceiling he had set and that it would mark a return to government participation in agriculture.

Supporters of the move to override the President's veto contended that higher price supports were needed to assure sufficient production at a time of slipping farm prices and rising farm production costs. They said higher supports would assure farmers of the credit backing they need to obtain loans for their operations. The vote to sustain the veto effectively killed the measure. Voting to override farm bill veto: O'Neill (Majority Leader).

Voting to sustain farm bill veto: Blanchard (D), Brown (R), Conyers (D), Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Vietnamese Refugee Assistance. The House voted 381-31 to authorize $507-million for the resettlement of Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees in this country.

Supporters of the refugee assistance argued that immediate action was necessary because funds had run out for the resettlement program.

Opponents maintained that domestic needs should be given first priority and that there were Americans who needed assistance as much as the refugees.

Voting for refugee assistance: Blanchard (D), Brown (R), Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), O'Neill (Majority Leader), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting against refugee assistance: Conyers (D).

Federal Budget. By a 230-193 vote, the House gave final approval to a resolution setting a federal spending target of $367 billion in fiscal year 1976, with revenues of $298 billion and a resulting deficit of $68.8 billion. The deficit, the largest since World War II, would be $8.8 billion more than President Ford had said was acceptable.

The Senate approved the same targets by voice vote.

Under new congressional budget procedures, both chambers vote early each year on a resolution setting overall spending and deficit targets. Designed to give Congress more control over the direction of economic and spending policy, the resolution would guide the later development of authorization, appropriations and tax legislation. The budget resolution is not subject to presidential veto.

Proponents of the resolution argued that most of the difference between the $68.8 billion figure and the President's $80 billion ceiling results from differing assumptions about the economy and the cost of the recession. They also argued that in fiscal 1976 spending priorities should be shifted somewhat to stimulate the recession-plagued economy.

Most opponents contended the spending levels were too high and that the large deficit would increase inflation and choke off economic recovery. Some Northern Democrats opposed the resolution because they said it did not allow for adequate programs for the poor and unemployed.

Voting for budget resolution: Blanchard (D), O'Neill (Majority Leader).

Voting against budget resolution: Brown (R), Conyers (D), Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Lower Speeds Saving Lives

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The lower speed limit cut traffic deaths 20 per cent on freeways and 40 per cent on other Michigan trunklines, a state study concludes.

The survey, believed to be the first of its kind in the country, was conducted by the University of Michigan Highway Safety Research Institute and the state Safety Commission.

The researchers report that reducing the maximum speed limit to 55 miles per hour cut crash severity, which in turn resulted in fewer traffic deaths.

"This life-saving effect was recorded when traffic patterns and traffic volume were back up to normal after the end of the fuel shortages last year," Secretary of State Richard Austin said Wednesday. "It is directly related to the enforcement of the 55 m.p.h. speed limit."

Michigan's survey is the first in the nation to analyze relationships between vehicle use, fuel availability, crashes and traffic deaths in a single state for periods before, during and after the 1974 energy crisis, Austin said.

There was a jump of almost 50 per cent in the number of highway fatalities for persons ages 17-19 in the last half of 1974, the study said.

"Not only did they show almost no reduction in fatal crashes during the height of the energy crisis, their involvement in fatal crashes actually increases in an all-time high in the period after the energy crisis, when other age groups were maintaining dramatic reductions," Austin said.

The study concluded, "The 55 m.p.h. speed limit is effective in reducing fatalities when enforced."

Noting that fatalities dropped more on freeways than on other roads, the researchers suggested that a net gain in lives saved could be achieved by emphasizing speed limit enforcement on non-interstate highways "even at the expense of a slight increase in freeway speeds." Young drivers appeared almost oblivious to the energy crisis or speed reduction in curbing their driving habits, the study said.

HEALING MASKS: Behind the pressure masks they must wear constantly, Cindy and Randy Woodard of Wichita, Kan., have begun to mend from the fire injuries that nearly took their lives. The masks, proven to prevent facial scarring, can come off in 6-12 months, but the children will require various treatments for the next 16 years. Carol Woodard, their mother, says it's a miracle they're alive. (AP Wirephoto)

The state should try to make this group more safety conscious by "direct active measures" like warning letters, driver improvement sessions, court admonitions or special reviews and examinations at license renewal time, the report said.

Contract Is Signed

WHITMORE LAKE, Mich. (AP) — Hoover Chemical Division employees of the Hoover Ball and Bearing plant voted Wednesday to accept a new three-year contract, according to UAW Region 1E Director Bard Young.

The 92 to 68 vote ended a nine-day shutdown. The workers belong to UAW Amalgamated Local 408.

Silver Creek Tables Freeze

DOWAGIAC — Silver Creek township board last night tabled action on the possibility of freezing the amount of property taxes it collects for the township this year at the 1974 level.

H. Jean Casey, township clerk, reported to the board that cuts in the $122,775 budget for this year would be difficult to make because of less federal and state revenue sharing monies anticipated this year and approximately $6,900 more in expenses for the township police department and construction inspection not provided for in the original budget.

She said the federal revenue sharing funds would be $14,000 less than the township received last year and the state funds were expected to be lowered because of the repeal of the sales tax on food and drugs and the high unemployment in the state.

A decision on whether the township taxes could be frozen at last year's level can be made as late as mid-September, she added.

The township's effort was triggered by a Cass county board decision in March to keep 1974 collections at the 1974 levels. Last year, the township levied one mill for its operation which raised $20,900. This year the same mill would generate about $23,600 in tax revenue.

In other areas, the board hired two patrolmen and granted pay raises for the other two officers of the part-time police force.

Hired under a six-week probationary period were Charles Grover and James Casey, brother of the township clerk, for $2.75 per hour. Police Chief Roy Don Rohdy was granted a pay raise from $2.50 per hour to $3.50, and officer John Noddruff from $2.50 to $3 per hour. The police department would patrol about 70 hours in the township.

The board named former supervisor Richard Grabemeyer as the township building inspector to replace Arthur Dennis.

As building inspector, assessor and blight ordinance inspector, Grabemeyer will be paid a yearly salary of $12,500.

The board agreed to purchase chemicals for the control of weeds and insects in and around Dewey lake.

Permission was granted to Clare Flanders of Indian lake to hold a fireworks display on July 4.

Food Salvage Danger Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators say tighter government control is needed over companies specializing in food salvaging because some firms are selling potentially harmful food for human consumption.

The General Accounting Office reported Wednesday that 26 of the 30 food salvage outlets it visited were selling food that was insect-infested or packaged in leaking, rusted, stained, swollen or badly damaged containers.

CARTER ASSURED
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter says he has been personally assured by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that Kennedy will not be a presidential candidate in 1978.

Village Gets Tax Decrease

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien Springs village council last night approved a village 1975 property tax levy of 13.3 mills, 7 mills less than last year's 14 mill levy.

The reduced millage was made possible because the village's state equalized valuation increased to $9,801,771, compared to last year's valuation of $8,919,337, according to Assessor Glen Briggs.

The millage rate will support the 1975-76 budget of $391,133 that was approved by the council at its May 5 meeting. The council delayed setting the millage rate until it received a tentative valuation figure.

In other areas, the council named the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan to prepare computerized tax bills. The bank was named, the council said, because Berrien county has refused to accept the village into its system unless Oronoko township joins as well.

The council aid it was informed that the township does not plan to join the county computer system.

PREDICTS WIN: Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., meets with reporters outside the White House Wednesday following a meeting of GOP Senators with President Ford. Ford told the senators that he will run a vigorous campaign for the presidency next year and carry a strong and constructive program to the people. Scott predicted Ford would win election for a four-year term. (AP Wirephoto)

Lawmakers Will Return To Job, Pay Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress reconvenes June 2 after a 10-day Memorial Day recess, the lawmakers will face a wide array of legislation designed to assist the unemployed by providing jobs and more jobless benefits.

The Senate in particular will be faced with two major programs that were passed by large margins in the House this week.

In one instance, a $6 billion plan to extend and expand two temporary programs of federally financed benefits for the unemployed was approved 381 to 8 Wednesday night by the House. The legislation, supported by the Ford administration, acknowledges the persistence of high unemployment and extends into next year two programs created last December and earlier this year.

—An existing 26-week program of federal supplemental benefits would be extended through mid-1976 when the maximum would be reduced to 13 weeks for the rest of 1976. The present law expires June 30.

The program also would continue an extra 13 weeks of federal jobless benefits for those out of work in hardcore jobless areas, bringing coverage to 65 weeks, including other state and federal programs.

—Another existing program providing jobless benefits for persons not covered by unemployment insurance also would be extended through mid-1976, and the maximum number of weeks of federally financed benefits would be boosted from 26 to 39 weeks. Present law expires Dec. 31.

The estimated 12 million persons without coverage are mainly farm workers, household workers and state and local government employees.

The House-passed bill also would deny jobless aid in the case of educational employees in the period between school terms or academic years if those employees have contracts for both terms or years.

The second major program facing the Senate authorizes $5 billion for state and local public works projects and would provide 100 per cent federal funding when work could begin 90 days after project approval.

This bill, sent to the Senate on Tuesday by a 313-86 vote, is opposed by the Ford administration which argues the program would aggravate inflation because the economy already is improving.

Supporters of that bill say the construction industry has been particularly hard hit and that the jobless rate in the building trades exceeds 18 per cent, compared with an 8.9 per cent national jobless rate. Backers claim the bill would provide 250,000 construction jobs.

Ford also opposes a separate $5.3 billion appropriations bill that would provide jobs through public service employment and acceleration of public works projects such as federal construction work.

The bill, now on Ford's desk and expected to be vetoed, is designed to generate 800,000 jobs. The administration had asked for a $2.5 billion program and considers the bill excessive.

Senator Faces A Big Fight

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state senator wants more legislative control over $250 million spent annually for highway construction.

But it will take a fight to wrestle that power from the state Highway Commission and Department of State Highways and Transportation. The matter is purely in the discussion stage now.

"There aren't any checks or balances on highway projects. The Highway Department is the only agency in state government where we don't line-item the budget," said Sen. Billy Huffman, D-Madison Heights. He referred to the process of approving or disapproving single budget items, a common practice for other departments.

Huffman is a member of the joint capital outlay subcommittee which oversees state building projects. The powerful subcommittee should scrutinize highway projects, too, Huffman believes.

Last year, the legislature appropriated highway construction money in several lump sums of more than $100 million each.

The state Highway Commission and the Department of State Highways and Transportation decides which roads to build or repair with the money.

The subcommittee's vice chairman, Sen. Dale Kildee, D-Flint, says lawmakers might make political pawns out of every stretch of proposed highway if they had the final say on roads.

"My fear is that every legislator is going to want a nice road through his own district," Kildee said.

John Woodford, state highway director, doesn't like the idea at all.

Woodford showed up at a subcommittee meeting recently with an attorney general's opinion saying the legislative branch "cannot assume administrative controls with respect to highway commission programs."

Juvenile Crime In Russia Is Serious

MOSCOW (AP) — Andrei Malakhov was in the fourth grade when he started stealing coins from telephone booths. By the age of 17 he had committed more than 60 robberies, some of them armed.

Andrei is a juvenile delinquent. Despite official insistence that crime is withering away, he is not an uncommon phenomenon in this society.

Two years ago, the second-ranking Soviet law enforcement official, deputy minister of internal affairs Boris T. Shumilin, called juvenile delinquency here an "urgent problem."

Juvenile delinquency statistics are secret in the Soviet Union, as are figures on adult crime. But the deep concern about delinquency, expressed in the press by numerous experts, discloses its still serious dimensions.

What causes children to become delinquents in a society which maintains it has liquidated the roots of crime in its march toward communism? What is being done about these problem children?

An exhaustive study of Andrei Malakhov — a six-part series in the youth newspaper, Komsomolskaya Pravda has tried to provide some of the answers.

From infancy, Andrei lived in a friction-ridden home, with his parents paying him little attention and exhibiting scant concern about the behavior of their son.

They apparently are not unique. Soviet social scientists often begin their discussions of delinquency by scolding parents for their failure to set good examples, their lack of supervision and unwillingness to communicate with their children.

"We do not have and cannot have ideological conflicts between the generations. But there always have been psychological conflicts, and probably will be for a long time," says educator A. Mudrick. This is a surprising admission in a society that claims it has no generation gap.

The desire of many Soviet parents to give their children a better life than they have experienced — with more material benefits — has produced some undisciplined, morally lax youths who want much without working for it. Soviet educators and psychologists have complained. As a result, some of these young people have turned to lawbreaking.

"Youths of our time are attracted by transistors, watches, motorcycles and cars, and if they have been morally neglected, they will commit a crime," said one law enforcement official.

The school also must bear its share of responsibility for youthful law violators, say law enforcement officials and other experts.

When Andrei first entered first grade, he lapsed badly — an impediment mocked by his classmates and laughed at by his teacher.

"In revenge, Andrei did bad things," Komsomolskaya Pravda said. "He was beaten up by his classmates. Then he took revenge again. He was again beaten up."

The confused, hostile little boy was acknowledged as a difficult child, but the school did nothing to help him. That fact was not surprising.

Many Soviet administrators and teachers limit themselves to academic instruction, leaving matters of pupils' conduct and emotional state to parents and the police.

The organized guidance and counseling systems which appear in many American schools do not exist here, and there do not seem to be special programs in the schools for children with academic and disciplinary problems.

As the result, "problem children" often drop out of school or are expelled, some drifting into delinquency.

Andrei stayed in school, but he also hired an older teenager, an ex-inmate of a youth labor colony, to beat up his classmates for 50 kopecks a day. At the same time, Andrei was brought into the gang to which his "protector" belonged and was taught to rob phone booths.

Andrei was finally caught and summoned to the children's room of the local police station, where he was given a warning by the policeman in charge of juvenile cases. No charges were filed. The case was considered closed by parents, school and police.

A year later, he was caught again and given a year's suspended sentence by the Commission on Juvenile Affairs, which deals with less serious crimes by children under 16.

The commission made no effort to find out anything about Andrei or to try to curb his delinquency. His teacher, who witnessed the hearing, called it

"an assembly line procedure."

Valery Agronovsky, author of the Komsomolskaya Pravda series says there is a glaring absence of criminologists, sociologists, psychologists, social workers and probation officers in criminal work here.

Court officials and police "are professionally unable to decipher the psychology of the teenager, the causes of his behavior and the mechanism of his acts," Agronovsky said. "They have no correct notion about the subject of their concerns."

Andrei finally came to the end of the line when he was arrested for robbery and sentenced to five years in a youth labor colony.

"When Andrei first started his artistry, one could still shout out loud so everyone could hear: 'Stop Malakhov before it is too late,' Agronovsky wrote.

"But first, someone had to appear, and second, someone had to listen and respond."

No one did.

The young of many animals, birds and fish are known by special names: young eel, for example, is an "elver." Many young animals are referred to simply as infants or babies, yet The World Almanac notes that the young quail is called a cheeper, the baby swan is a cygnet and the new-born kangaroo is a joey, while a pup can be a young sea lion as well as a dog.

MEETING PLANNED

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A meeting of Upper Peninsula school officials to discuss teacher accountability will be conducted Thursday and Friday at Northern Michigan University. The state Board of Education will hold the workshop for teachers, school administrators and local school board members.

LMC Students Elect Officers

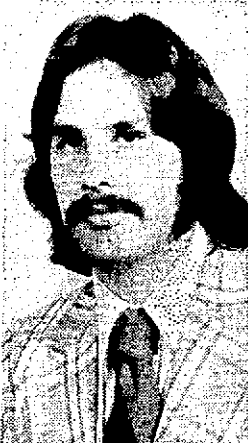

Students of Lake Michigan college have elected officers and sophomore members of the Student Senate, legislative arm of student government, for the 1975-76 school year.

Freshman senators will be chosen in another election next fall.

Robert Lutz of St. Joseph, vice president of the Senate this year, was elected president for next year. He will succeed Khalid Take of St. Joseph, who will graduate this month. Lutz is a navy veteran of the Vietnam conflict.

Elected vice president was Mauricio Sanchez of Stevensville, who is chief justice of the student government this year. Sanchez is a native of Colombia, South America, who came to the United States in 1967. Both Lutz and Sanchez are graduates of St. Joseph high school.

The 113 sophomore senators elected for next year are: Leonard Rosenberg, Ronald Monte, Shirley Cassell, David Bennet, Julia Smith, Don Shaner, Lori Leary and Dagmar Klingenberg, all of Benton Harbor; J.W. Oliver and Aulia Ben-

Big Rapids Officials Look At Jail's Fate

BIG RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — City commissioners say they want to preserve an 86-year-old jail.

Commissioners resolved unanimously to take over the old Mecosta County Jail in downtown Big Rapids, if the county will let them. Three nearby churches want the jail, built in 1889 and designated an historic site by the Michigan Historical Commission, demolished to provide more parking for parishioners.

County officials said they may decide the jail's fate at their June 23 meeting.

Michigan Is Land Of Many Summer Celebrations

Michigan's history, ethnic heritage, farm crops and scenic beauty are just some of the perfect excuses for festivals in towns across the state this summer, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

From late May through the end of August, Michigan vacationers are guaranteed to find a continuous selection of celebrations offering parades, entertainment, taste-tempting food and arts and crafts displays, to name only a few attractions. The Fort Michilimackinac Pageant in Mackinac City is the traditional kick-off for the summer festival season. Held every Memorial Day weekend — May 24-26 this year — the pageant recreates the famous battle between pioneers and Indians at historic Fort Michilimackinac. Other events include tomahawk-throwing matches and muzzle-loader gun firing exhibitions.

Michigan's logging history will be honored at Baraga's Lumberjack Days (July 3-6) and at the Paul Bunyan Festival in Oscoda (Aug. 14-17). Visitors to Baraga will enjoy logging games, horse-pulling contests and fireworks. Oscoda's festival will be highlighted by banjo "pickin'" contests and "tail-tale" competition.

The Mill-Town Festival (Aug. 14-17) is Grayling's annual birthday party. A carnival, arts and crafts displays and a parade are among activities planned to honor that town's origin on the banks of the Au Sable River in 1872.

For festivals honoring Michigan's ethnic groups, Detroit's gala extravaganzas along the riverfront near Cobo Hall are hard to beat. Every weekend through Sept. 19-21, one of the city's numerous ethnic populations will have its time to celebrate. Music, dances, food, culture and handicrafts from most of the world's major countries are featured.

Two other well-known celebrations also honor the "old country." Beer tents and dancing to polka bands are part of the traditional fun at Frankenmuth's Bavarian Festival (June 8-14). The Alpenfest in Gaylord (July 5-20) invites visitors to enjoy everything from the "world's largest coffee break" to sauerkraut dinners and yodeling contests.

The abundant harvests from Michigan's orchards and fields are other causes for celebration. One of the state's best-known summer events is the Traverse City National Cherry Festival (July 7-12). Orchard tours, pie-eating contests and parachute jumps are only a few of the activities.

Other harvest-time festivals sure to have sweet treats for visitors are: the National Blueberry Festival in South Haven (June 26-July 6), Manistee's Strawberry Festival (July 3-6) and the Sugar Festival (July 11-13). Sebewaing's tribute to its sugar beet industry.

The outdoors fun that Michigan offers in the summertime can be enjoyed at the Tourist Festival (June 27-29) in East Tawas and Tawas City. Highlights include a 63-mile bicycle race past Lumberman's Monument and a statewide softball tournament.

Two of the state's major boating centers — Port Huron and Muskegon — also are celebrating this summer. Port Huron's Blue Water Festival (July 7-13) will feature scuba diving demonstrations, four nights of fireworks and a carnival. A fishing derby, sand sculpture contest, boat races and "big name" musical entertainment are on tap for the Michigan Seaway Festival (June 28-July 26).

Perhaps the most scenic of Michigan's festivals are held on Mackinac Island and in Jackson. Mackinac Island's Liliac Festival (June 14-15), now in its 27th year, is a favorite for photographers, both amateur and pro. Municipal rose displays and tours of local gardens await visitors to the Jackson Rose Festival (June 7-13).

Old-fashioned fun — ox roasts, parades and fireworks — is the theme of Ludington's traditional Independence Day celebration, the Freedom Festival (July 4-6). Over in Bay City, the Bay Country Days Festival (June 20-23) will offer much of the same plus sailboat and canoe races.

A pot-pourri of cultural events will be enjoyed at Iron Mountain's Festival of the Arts, which runs from June 2 to July 21. Highlighting the Upper Peninsula fest are an exhibit of paintings from the Smithsonian Institute and concert performances by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Certainly one of the state's most unusual festivals occurs in Colon, located about 30 miles southeast of Kalamazoo. This tiny town's annual Magic Get Together (Aug. 20-23) is expected to draw close to 1,000 magicians. The public is invited to nightly demonstrations by the country's leading sleight-of-hand tricksters.

Doctors Urged To Monitor Pacemakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Physicians are being advised to closely monitor adult and child patients wearing heart pacemaker equipment recently associated with the deaths of two children, the Food and Drug Administration says.

The FDA said Wednesday the two children, aged 4 and 12, died when wire leads that connect the pacemaker system with the heart broke off.

Angry Ron Jessie Takes Parting Shot At Lions

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Lions wide receiver Ron Jessie, accusing team General Manager Russ Thomas of trying to interfere between Jessie and his attorney, has bid goodbye to the National Football League team.

Jessie, who came to Detroit from Dallas in 1971, became a free agent May 1 and said he originally planned to stay with the Lions.

But he said after a May 14 meeting with Thomas — while the attorney, Robert L. Fenton was seeking west coast offers from other teams — the general manager tried to destroy Jessie's attorney-client relationship.

Thomas denied Jessie's accusations, and claimed Jessie had already made up his mind before the May 14 meeting to leave the Lions.

"At no time did I make the player any offer that I did not make to his attorney," Thomas said.

Jessie also said Thomas tried to get him to sign a contract without the help of Fenton.

"Because the management to my way of thinking acted in a most irresponsible and unethical way, I no longer feel I can sign a contract with this club," Jessie said.

Jessie, the Lions' leading pass receiver last season, said his decision not to stay in Detroit had "absolutely nothing to do with dollars and cents." He said he felt he had been treated unfairly by the Lions during his four seasons here, and put much of the blame for that treatment on Thomas.

He reportedly asked the Lions for a $60,000 bonus and a salary starting at $70,000 and climbing to $90,000 annually. His old pact gave him only $16,000.

Jessie is the second regular from the 1974 Lions certain to be lost this season. The other is center Ed Flanagan, who may play with Hawaii of the World Football League, or else will retire.

Jessie, a former football and track star at Kansas, caught 54 passes for the Lions last season, his option year under a three-year contract signed originally with Dallas.

During his seasons with the Lions, Jessie's salary was lower than that paid players of comparable status. Last spring, Jessie signed a $100,000-a-year contract with the World Football League. When the Birmingham team folded, Jessie became a free agent and started new negotiations with the Lions.

During contract negotiations last week, Jessie said Thomas tried to disassociate him from attorney Fenton.

"I know a con game when I see it, and I decided I didn't want to play with the Lions anymore," Jessie said.

Thomas said he told Jessie that the player could negotiate his own contract just as well as an attorney could do it for him. Thomas also claimed he told Jessie that he could let Fenton run the negotiations, or the two of them could bargain together with Thomas.

The Lions' general manager said Jessie told him his family was unhappy in Detroit and he wanted to move elsewhere.

"It finally came down to the fact that he wouldn't play for us even if we granted the contract terms he sought," Thomas said.

Perez Gets 'Feeling' Back With Big Night

Dodgers, Messersmith Zap Cubs 10-0

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Bench went to bat for Tony Perez last winter so Perez could go to bat for the Cincinnati Reds this summer.

And, boy, how Perez has been going to bat.

Bench, who interceded for his teammate when the Reds attempted to trade him during the off-season, can gloat about his grandstand play the way Perez is hitting now.

"I got the feeling back," said Perez Wednesday night — and few would doubt him after he drove in four runs, two with a homer, to lead the Reds' 11-4 conquest of the New York Mets.

The home run was Perez' sixth of the season and the RBI boosted his total to 29, tops on the team. Those are pretty nice figures, even if the broad-shouldered first baseman is only hitting a shade above .200.

Along with Perez' big night, Dave Concepcion and Doug Flynn each knocked in three runs as the Reds tied their highest run output of the season.

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants shaded the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 in 11 innings; the Atlanta Braves trimmed the Montreal Expos 6-3; the Houston Astros blanked the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0; the San Diego Padres nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers pounded the Chicago Cubs 10-0.

Chris Speier's bases-loaded single with none out in the 11th inning gave San Francisco its victory over Pittsburgh and a sweep of their three-game series.

The victory was the Giants' fifth in six games and improved their extra-inning record to 5-4 this season.

Darrell Evans smashed his seventh and eighth home runs of the season and Mike Lum added another to Atlanta's long-ball attack, powering the Braves over Montreal.

Evans hit both of his bases-empty shots off Steve Renko, 0-2, the first in the opening inning and the second in the fourth. Lum got a bases-empty homer, his second of the season, in the fifth off reliever Don Demola.

Larry Dierker pitched a six-hitter and Milt May doubled home three runs to lead Houston over Philadelphia. May's drive to left off Wayne Twitchell in the fifth inning expanded a 1-0 lead. The Astros had acquired on Cesar Cedeño's sacrifice fly in the third.

The victory, fourth straight for the Astros, the last place team in the National League West, enabled them to sweep the three-game series from the Phillies.

Joe McIntosh pitched an eight-hitter and San Diego scored an unearned run in the seventh inning on pitcher Bob Gibson's throwing error to edge St. Louis.

Undefeated Andy Messersmith hurled a seven-hitter for his seventh victory and knocked in three runs in leading Los Angeles over Chicago.

Steve Garvey knocked in four runs, two with a homer, and Steve Yeager clubbed four singles and drove in two runs to lead the Dodger attack. Former Dodger Geoff Zahn, 0-2, started and absorbed the loss.

The victory was Messersmith's 11th straight over two seasons and the shutout, his second of the year.

The Dodgers took a 2-0 lead in the first inning against Zahn on walks to Tom Paciorek and Jim Wynn and run-scoring singles by Garvey and Ron Cey. Messersmith's sacrifice fly in the second made it 3-0. Los Angeles added two more runs in the sixth on REI singles by Garvey and Yeager.

The victory enabled the Dodgers to remain five games in front of Cincinnati in the National League West while Chicago retained its 2½-game lead over Philadelphia in the East.

The victory also provided Tom Lasorda with a successful debut in his role as interim manager for the Dodgers. He will manage the club through Sunday in the absence of Walter Alston, who is in Ohio attending funeral services for his father who passed away Tuesday.

Hisle's Home Run Sinks Tigers

Minnesota Earns Comeback Victory In 11 Innings

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) —

Minnesota's Larry Hisle was anathema to the Detroit Tigers last year and the slugging Twins' outfielder appears to be poison to the Motor City club and ace relief pitcher John Hiller again.

Hisle, who was supposed to get a day of rest Wednesday, was called on for some late-inning help and belted a two-run homer off Hiller to propel the Twins to a comeback 6-5 victory over Detroit in 11 innings.

"Skip (Manager Frank Quilici) said he was giving me the day off because I hadn't looked too good at the plate lately," said Hisle, who now has seven homers and 28 RBIs. "I didn't really hit the pitch good and to tell you the truth I was the most surprised person in the park when it went out."

The game-winning homer dropped over Minnesota's "new" shortened left field fence some 340 feet from home plate. "It was my very best pitch," said Hiller, now 1-1. "I can't make a better pitch. It was a changeup low and away and he hits it out of the park." Hiller surrendered the home run after walking Steve Brye to open the bottom of the 11th.

"That was stupid to walk the first hitter," said Hiller. "I don't know about that Hisle. He murdered us last year and now this."

Detroit had taken a 5-4 lead in its half of the 11th when Ron Leflore singled, moved to second on a throwing error by pitcher Ray Corbin and then scored on Gary Sutherland's single.

"We had to win the game for Corbin the way he pitched," said Hisle. "We've sure made a job out of winning lately though."

Corbin took over for Minnesota starter Vic Albury in the first inning and gave up a second inning solo home run to Gene Michael and the unearned run in the 11th.

"It seems to be much easier for me when I'm put into the game quickly and haven't had time to think about getting ready," said Corbin, now 2-2 after winning his second long relief effort in four days. "I guess I must have a little mental block about starting."

The Tigers had jumped off to a 4-0 advantage on the strength of a three-run homer by Willie Horton in the first inning and Michael's first home run of the season in the second. Horton boosted his major league-leading total to 10 with the line drive blast into the left field veranda.

The Twins used a two-run homer by Eric Soderholm and a solo shot by Steve Braun along with a third inning unearned run to catch the Tigers.

Rod Carew and Tony Oliva each banged out three hits for the Twins while Sutherland continued to feast on Minnesota pitching with a double and two singles for Detroit.

Minnesota opens a three-game weekend series in Milwaukee Friday night with Bert Blyleven, 4-1, scheduled to meet the Brewers' Ed Sprague, 1-1.

Detroit move into Chicago to open a four-game set with the White Sox and Lerrin LaGrew, 3-3, is slated in the opener Friday night against Wilbur Wood, 2-7.

any time during the season, and it'll be the same for this game."

Brown said he's not surprised his team has made it this far, but that it's likely many people are. He said no one gave the Colonels a chance to win even their divisional title.

"With the five new players we had and a new coaching staff we had a hell of a transformation in just learning one another's basketball talents," said Brown, 41. "Our first goal was to try and win 60 games, and we did not achieve that. But I think as the season went on we became a much stronger basketball team. And I think that is displayed in the fact that we did win our last nine games."

Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown doesn't think it will last that long this time, for several reasons.

One is that Artis Gilmore, who has been up and down in the Indiana series, will be up for tonight's game if he goes according to trend.

"He went from 26 to 12 to 41 to 18 in the four games so far," said Brown of the Colonels' 7-foot-2 center. Gilmore's 18-point production came in the Colonels' 94-88 loss to Indiana in Indianapolis Monday night.

Gilmore admitted after that game he was tired and his shooting was off a bit. But he's had three days to rest for this game, and Brown is quick to point that out.

"During the regular season, we only played him 40 minutes a game," said Brown, in his first year as Kentucky coach. "During the playoffs, he's played almost every minute of every quarter."

Kentucky is not a "rah-rah" type of professional team," Brown said. "Our approach is disciplined, organized, low-key. And we have never changed it at

Lakeshore Holds Baseball Clinic

The Lakeshore youth baseball association is having a baseball clinic tonight at 6:30 p.m. at the high school diamond.

Lakeshore varsity baseball coach Jim Sanford will be the instructor. All managers, coaches and the general public are invited. In the event of rain, the clinic will be held in the gym.

The association is also having a bake sale Friday at Hardings by Cleveland and John Reers roads to raise money to have paid umpires this summer.

Coaches Resign

GRANT, Mich. (AP) — All five basketball coaches at Grant High School have resigned in a dispute over discipline.

Lynn McDougal, varsity coach for five years, said his disciplinary measures were not supported by school officials.

The school's four other coaches agreed with McDougal and joined him in resigning.

Holland, Jager Pace Blossomland Romp Lancers Reclaim Track Crown

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

THREE OAKS — Lakeshore's back on top!

The Lancers reclaimed the Blossomland conference track meet championship with surprising ease here Wednesday on River Valley's all-weather track.

Lakeshore piled up 77½ points to far outdistance second place Brandywine, which finished with 52.

Glen Brown's thinslads, who lost the title to the Bobcats last spring to see their five-year reign snapped, now have captured eight of the 13 Blossomland meets.

"We did a little better than I figured," voiced Brown, who also guided the Lancers to a 6-0 mark in league dual meets. "I made two estimates before the meet. In on I had us with 76 points and the other 73. I hope that doesn't sound like I had everything doped out. I also figured a victory margin over Brandywine of 20 to 10 points. We picked up points in the events I thought we would...but in different ways."

Lakeshore picked up seven firsts in the 15 events while Brandywine finished with five firsts, including four by sensational Dennis Wilson.

The Lancers, showing solid overall depth, were sparked by sophomore Tom Jager and senior Mike Holland. Both took two firsts and a second. Jager won both hurdles and ended runnerup to Holland in the 220 dash. Holland also ran anchor on the winning 880 relay squad and finished second to Brandywine's Rod Runyan in the 100 dash.

Other members of the Lancers' 880 relay team were Keith Arend, Al Martin and Tim Farrow.

Perhaps the meet's top performance was turned in by Lakeshore long-distance ace Mike Mead. The junior won the two-mile run for the third straight year and in the process broke his own meet record. His time of 9:50.2, coming in a steady rain, lowers his second-place honor roll time by three-tenths of a second. His old meet mark was 10:05.

River Valley's Dick Reith finished second to Mead with an honor roll clocking of 9:57.0.

Sophomore Mike Mason got the Lancers off on the right foot with a first in the shot put while Mark Radabaugh won the mile in a mild surprise.

"That one-three finish in the shot put helped...we needed those points," commented Brown. "And Radabaugh in the mile was a question mark...we knew he had the potential but you never know. And I wasn't sure we'd pick up 10 points in the 220."

Wilson broke his own meet record in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 4 inches. Wilson, who has gone 6 feet, 8 inches this spring, jumped 6 feet, 3 inches in last year's meet.

The Brandywine star also grabbed firsts in the 880 run with an honor roll time of 1:59.6 and the 440 while also anchoring the winning mile relay team, which also included Jim Reed, Tim Balon and Greg Bestle.

Coloma captured two firsts with Jerry Gagliardo winning the long jump and the foursome of Gus Mendoza, Greg Dabicki, Wally Kroschel and Jeff Shafer taking the 440 relay.

The Comets were running without regular 440 members Gagliardo and John Bertuccia, out with a possible pulled muscle.

River Valley's Reith won the pole vault for the second consecutive year. Reith and Don Bell of Brandywine both cleared 12 feet, 6 inches but Reith was declared the winner on fewer misses.

A driving rain for most of the final events held down the times and as a result only two meet records were broken.

Norrix Easy Track Champ Nisbet, Bacon Produce All-Time Efforts

By JOHN VANDEN HEED
Staff Sports Writer

DOWAGIAC — St. Joseph pole vaulter Brian Nisbet and Dowagiac hurdler Dennis Bacon came up with all-time efforts in a Big Six track meet dominated by powerful Kalamazoo Loy Norrix here Wednesday afternoon.

Nisbet earned a share of third on the all-time southwestern Michigan track honor roll on a winning vault of 13 feet, 6 inches.

And Bacon claimed a share of second on the all-time honor roll with a winning 14.7 seconds in the 120 high hurdles on Northwestern Michigan College's fast all-weather track.

Bacon also took two other firsts while emerging with Loy Norrix' Darryl Pruitt as the meet's top individuals.

Pruitt won both sprints and ran on the winning Norrix 880 relay team while helping the Knights to a repeat Big Six championship and a whopping 40-point victory margin over runner-up St. Joseph.

Norrix won eight events while following up on its Class A regional championship just last Saturday. The Knights have also won Western Michigan's indoor meet, the Sturgis Relays and the Niles Relays this season, and coach Don Lukens feels his squad now has a shot at the state championship if the relay teams "click."

There were no new Big Six records set Wednesday, but Pruitt matched his 100 dash record of 10 seconds flat while the speedy Knights were taking the first three places in both dashes and winning both sprint relays.

Bacon's other wins came in the long jump and the low hurdles at 20.75 (third on this season's honor roll) as Dowagiac made its final appearance in Big Six competition (The Chiefs move over to the Blossomland this fall).

St. Joseph matched Dowagiac's three first places. In addition to Nisbet's first, the Bears also got an excellent winning time of 3:26.2 in the mile relay from Dick Goodman, Marty Kirk, Henry Pollman and Dave Karsten and a winning 880 run time of 1:58.6 from Pollman. Karsten lowered his 440 dash honor roll clocking to 50.5 while finishing second.

"I think we did as well as we could have," commented Bear coach Ron Waldvogel after watching most of his team live up to their capabilities.

Both returning individual champions repeated — Pruitt in the 100 dash and teammate Rick Phetteplace, who won the 220 last year but ran the 440 this season.

Niles moved to the top of this spring's honor roll in the 880 relay while finishing second to Norrix with a time of 1:32.0.

Subs Key For Warriors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Some people think I have a little angel on the bench, and all I have to do is push the button and it's going to work every time," mused Coach Al Attles of the Golden State Warriors.

Whatever buttons Attles is pushing or whatever magic formula he is using to hypo the Warriors, it is working.

First, the Warriors overcame tremendous odds and won the Pacific Division title in the National Basketball Association. Then, they overcame even bigger odds and beat Seattle and Chicago in the Western Conference playoffs. And now, they are halfway toward completing what would be one of the biggest surprises in basketball history — winning the NBA title.

Going into Friday night's third game of the nationally televised best-of-seven championship series at the 13,225-seat Cow Palace, their home away from home, the amazing Warriors hold a 2-0 advantage over the heavily favored Washington Bullets.

The Warriors have gained the lead with the assistance of a mentally prepared, eager and unselfish group of reserves, who patiently wait for the opportunity to play and then capitalize on the chance.

In both games so far, Attles has used 11 players. In both games, 101-95 and 92-91 Golden State victories, Attles has gotten great mileage out of his reserves, the Warriors' substitutes having outscored the Bullets' second-stringers 73-24 and outrebounded them 45-13.

After the first game, Washington Coach K.C. Jones admitted that center Wes Unseld "got pooped" in the last quarter and asked to be rested for a couple of minutes. And after the second game, Jones admitted that all-star forward Elvin Hayes "took such a pounding because he was being double and triple-teamed that I had to give him a rest."

"If you can get the players away from thinking individually and concentrate on thinking as a team, then you've got something," said Attles.

Berrien Springs Breezes To Red Arrow Track Title

Beavers' Lanier Sets Two Dash Records

BY JIM DELAND
Sports Editor

WATERVLIET — The Berrien Springs track team has given coach Norm Harris a lot of thrills this season.

Wednesday night the Shamrocks gave him a chance to relax.

"We did a lot better than I expected," Harris admitted with a smile after watching his team run off with the Red Arrow conference championship by a comfortable 17-point margin over runnerup Lake Michigan Catholic.

"We got a lot of points where we didn't expect them... a lot of kids really came through for us. That's what makes it fun."

It was the sixth major championship of the season for the Shamrocks, and for a change

They also got a record 440 effort from sophomore Arden

Paustian and expected victories in the other two relays, but piled up the points with the help of less predictable first places from Croom in the low hurdles and Miller in the long jump while placing in all but three of the 15 events.

Paustian snipped one-tenth of a second off his own Red Arrow record with a winning time of 51.4 and then ran anchor leg behind Bill Decker, Tim Mead and Rick Ruhl on the mile relay team.

He also anchored the 880 relay team that included Miller, White and Croom — a foursome that produced a total of 33 points.

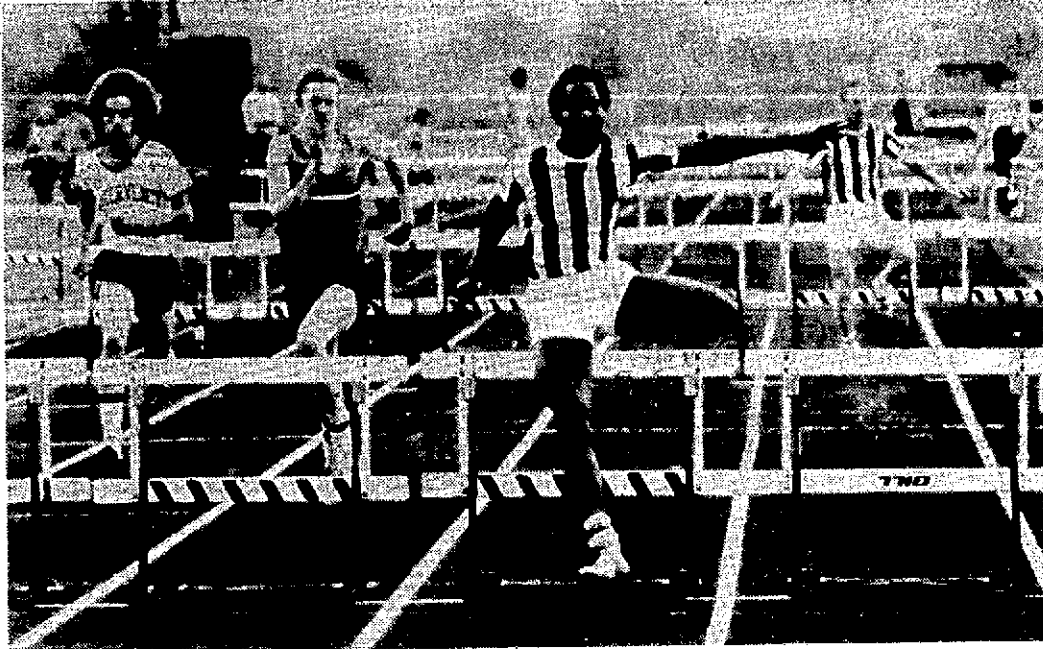

Miller edged Bridgman's Mike Schaller in a stirring long jump duel with a leap of 20-7/4 and Croom upset Bridgman's Mike Skorupa in the low hurdles with a winning time of 21.4.

Skorupa did win the low hurdles in a runaway, however, and Schaller established a new Red Arrow high jump record of 6-4 while leading a Bridgman sweep that saw Brian Ott also clear 6-4 and Skorupa take third place at 6-3. The meet's individual standout, however, was Eau Claire sprinter Taylor Lanier, who swept to victories in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes and set a new conference record in each one.

He covered the 100 in 10.15 to better the 10.2 mark of Watervliet's Jim Bolin last year and then won the 220 in 23.1 to knock a tenth of a second off the record set by Larry Nekvasil of Galien back in 1968.

The old high jump record of 6-2 by Hartford's Dave Brown also was set in 1968, leaving the 880 relay as the only event in which the record is more than four years old.

Joining the record club last night was Tim Gentry of Lake Michigan Catholic, who fought off strong challenges by Eau Claire's Roger Daugherty and Watervliet's Kevin Creedon to win the two-mile run in 10:04.2 — exactly one second faster than former Laker Roger Meier's 1972 standard.

Lake Michigan Catholic also got victories from half-miler Larry Wallace and pole vaulter Mike DeFrancesco while finishing second and wrapping up the 1974-75 all-sports trophy.

The meet ended on an anxious note when Hartford pole vaulter Larry Walter lost his grip on the rain-slick pole, fell short of the cushioned pit and injured his back.

Walter was taken to Watervliet Community hospital for X-rays and held overnight, but Hartford coach Ed Gustafson said it appeared that the injury was not a serious one.

Series Winners

Montreal Still Games Site

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Montreal's wobbly 1976 Olympic Games were still on Thursday, but Mayor Jean Drapeau still did not know if he had won his battle to restore the world's confidence.

The jaunty mayor, insisting that strikes and stoppages on the building of the Olympic stadium were unimportant, was scheduled to leave for home early Thursday afternoon. But the International Olympic Committee (IOC) asked him to stay around for further questioning if necessary.

For three hours Wednesday Drapeau — the man who first planned the Olympics in Montreal — fended off awkward questions in a rough session with the IOC.

He refused to admit there was any threat to the Games, scheduled to open July 17 next year. And he refused to consider any contingency plans for transferring track and field events to another stadium in Montreal if plans went wrong.

The 77-strong IOC, headed by the president, Lord Killanin, decided to sleep on it.

"We shall decide in the morning whether Montreal's report is satisfactory, or whether we want to ask further questions," a highly placed IOC source said.

One fact emerged clearly. The IOC will take no action at its session this week on Mexico City's offer to take the Games over in an emergency. Killanin said the offer was not made as a result of any approach by the IOC.

Olympics observers have said Mexico City, Los Angeles and Tehran might all take over the Olympics at short notice if an emergency arose. But Mexico City would be favored because it had the experience of organizing the Games in 1968.

The IOC is under contract to Montreal. Unless the Canadians intimate they are withdrawing, the IOC can not make any positive move about alternate sites.

And Drapeau insisted the Montreal Games are in no danger, despite the delays in construction.

He argued that the work was still up to schedule. He said double work gangs could be brought in if necessary, and men could be put on Saturday and Sunday duty on overtime rates, if the work fell behind.

Sabres Eye Second Win

Playoffs Resume Tonight At 'Foggy' Buffalo

BUFFALO (AP) — These are days when it seems hockey players would rather be on the golf course than on the ice, using putters instead of hockey sticks. Sandals, cutoff jeans and short-sleeved shirts are standard attire among the men competing for the Stanley Cup, rather than the heavy equipment they use to make their living.

After well over 100 games this season the Philadelphia Flyers and Buffalo Sabres will meet here tonight in the fourth game of the National Hockey League's championship series. Philadelphia leads 2-1 in the best-of-seven set, although Buffalo has its first one-game winning streak in three years against the defending champions.

The triumph, 5-4 in overtime Tuesday night, gave the Sabres the feeling that the Flyers, suddenly, are mortal.

"We have one victory, now we need three more," said Buffalo Coach Floyd Smith. "You always play better when you win."

"You play even better when you don't have to worry about a fog cloud hanging over the ice surface, which is just what happened during Game Three. The balmy weather here wrought havoc with the game, as the haze began to form late in the contest and made it difficult to see the puck."

"We're going to wear miner's helmets, the ones with the flashlights on top," said Flyers center Terry Crisp. "And we're going to paint the puck orange so we can see it better."

"We're going to the electric fans on our backs and skate around," offered Buffalo defenseman Larry Carriere.

Tuesday's game was stopped 12 times as referee Lloyd Gilmore had players from both teams skate around the ice to dissipate the fog. It would have happened more often, but Shero said Gilmore wouldn't permit his players to get in the extra skating time.

"Sure the conditions were bad, but I suppose that's one of the hazards of playing at this time of the year," said Crisp. This season has set a record for length. "The heat can be a problem, more than the fog, which is more time-consuming than anything else."

Plenty of time was consumed, anyway. Tuesday night's game was the longest NHL contest in four years, going 18:29 of overtime before Rene Robert scored the winner for Buffalo.

The Sabres will use goalie Gerry Desjardins, who played a very shaky first period Tuesday night, then asked to be taken out while Buffalo still had a chance of winning. The Flyers will go with netminder Bernie Parent, who carries a 2.08 goals against average after 12 playoff games this season.

TIME OUT!

"Good grief, Alice, another new ball for that silly tennis game you play?"

DETROIT (AP) — The International Hockey League will operate again with 10 teams for the 1975-76 season, the IHL governors said Wednesday.

Dow Can't Quite Save Paw Paw

PLAINWELL — Fabulous Ed Dow powered to four firsts and set two conference records but the Paw Paw Redskins still had to settle for a heart-breaking second place in the Wolverine conference track meet here Wednesday.

Plainwell swept to firsts in the meet's final two events—the mile and 440 relays—to edge the Skins 73 to 69½. The best Paw Paw could do in the last two events was a fourth in the mile relay.

Plainwell also ends as the overall Wolverine champ with a 8-0 record in dual meets to Paw Paw's 7-1.

Dow set a new record in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 3 and three-fourths inches and in the high hurdles with a clocking of 14.8, which ties his best of the season.

Dow also won the long jump at 21 feet, 8 and one-half inches while finishing ahead of teammates Leroy Rushing and Mel Gipson. Dow's leap takes third on the area honor roll. The super-athlete also went 20.3 in the low hurdles, which ties his area tops time.

Rushing produced honor roll clockings in winning both the 100 (10.1) and 220 (22.9) dashes.

Kimley Honored

Janet Kimley has been selected as the outstanding female athlete at Lakeshore high school this year.

She has won a total of eight letters in basketball, volleyball and track and earlier this year was picked as Most Valuable Player on the volleyball team.

Charles Brynensen won the mile in 4:30.3.

The Redskins' Scott Walters tied Plainwell's Steve Lovelace for pole vault honors at 13 feet, 6 inches but Lovelace won on fewer misses. Richard Weeks of Paw Paw was third at 12 feet, 6 inches.

Rushing was second to Dow in the long jump at 20 feet, 7¼ inches while Gipson was third at 20 feet, 3½ inches.

ing the two-mile in 9:34.8 and Plainwell's mile relay team getting 3:28.6.

Sexes Taking Sides In Minnesota Battle Over Dividing Athletic Dollar

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The battle of the sexes is on over the athletic dollar at the University of Minnesota.

"We love man and man's athletics," said Dr. Belmar Gunderson, women's athletic director at the university. "We're not going after them, but we want to pursue excellence in sport and not always get the hand-me-downs."

Dr. Gunderson and Paul Giel are involved in a controversial struggle over how Williams' Scholarship Fund contributions should be divided.

"I was hired as Director of Intercollegiate Athletics for Men and we're trying to make ends meet," said Giel. "In fairness to our program, we have to care of our young men first."

sophomore member of the university women's golf team.

Miss Gallo filed a discrimination complaint on the basis of sex with the Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Office of Civil Rights.

A spokesman at the HEW Regional office in Chicago said a decision on the Gallo complaint would probably be announced in mid-summer following its investigation.

"We don't see anything wrong with a young gal being eligible for the scholarship," said Dr. Gunderson.

The struggle has also aroused concern among large contributors to the Williams Scholarship Fund, which is presently designed to support the men's program.

"My giving is not for women's athletics," said Minneapolis businessman Bruce Telander. "I have daughters and want them to have opportunities as well, but I think the women can, and should, go after their own money."

The scholarships are given to needy student-athletes following their freshman year who have earned at least a 2.8 grade point average on the 4.0 system and demonstrated athletic promise.

"I really feel women should have their own fund-raising program," said Minneapolis businessman Tom Barron. "We've had a tough time raising money for the needs of the men's program."

Orioles Whip White Sox 6-2

Bosox Like A's Southpaws

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Oakland A's asked for it by starting three left-handers at Fenway Park... so the Boston Red Sox gave it to them. Wednesday night's 7-3 Boston victory featured Carl Yastrzemski's grand slam homer and a two-run shot by Rico Petrocelli off Ken Holtzman.

The Red Sox clobbered six home runs in sweeping the series, stretching the A's losing streak to four and dropping them into a first-place tie in the American League's West Division with the Texas Rangers, who edged the Milwaukee Brewers 5-1.

Yastrzemski belted the sixth grand slam of his career in the seventh inning after the Red Sox loaded the bases on singles by Bob Montgomery, Juan Beniquez and Rick Burleson. Even old-timers were unable to recall a team pitching three left-handers in Fenway Park, where the unfriendly left field usually eats southpaws alive.

Elsewhere, the Minnesota Twins nipped the Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 11 innings, the Baltimore Orioles trounced the Chicago White Sox 6-2, the Kansas City Royals downed the New York Yankees 4-1 in 10 innings and the Cleveland Indians shaded the California Angels 3-2.

Jim Spencer slammed a two-run homer and Jeff Burroughs drove in the decisive run with a sacrifice fly.

The Rangers scored the tying and winning runs against Billy Champion in the fifth inning.

One scored on a single by Jim Sundberg, a fielder's choice and single by Willie Davis. After an error by third baseman Kurt Bevacqua, Burroughs hit his decisive sacrifice fly.

Bobby Grich's three-run homer in a four-run first inning helped Jim Palmer, 7-2, notch his fourth straight victory as the Orioles snapped a four-game losing streak. Lee May also homered for Baltimore while Bill Melton hit one for Chicago.

Fran Healy slammed a three-run homer in the 10th inning after George Brett reached on an error and Cookie Rojas singled. It was the second home run of the season for Healy, who had driven in only two runs previously, and the 10th off Medich, 3-7, whose suffered his sixth consecutive setback. Player-Manager Frank Robinson hit two home runs, his first since opening day, and rookie Jim Kern hurled seven shutout innings for his first major league victory. Both of Robinson's blasts cleared the center field fence and came off Frank Tanana in the second and sixth innings.

Kern, making his third start of the season, allowed two singles until the eighth, when he lost his shutout bid on singles by Billy Smith, Jerry Remy and Tommy Harper and needed two relievers to quell the rally.

Do Unser, Gurney Have Indy Secret?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bobby Unser and Dan Gurney have been awfully quiet in their preparations this month for the Indianapolis 500.

Too quiet.

"They know something everybody else doesn't," said a friend close to the team. "They're so relaxed, so ready — it's almost spooky."

"I hope we're ready," Unser said with a sly smile. "We came here with the idea of getting set up early, and we did."

With even less practice time than A.J. Foyt — and that's saying something — Unser easily rang up the third fastest qualifying speed and guaranteed himself a front row start Sunday for the sixth time in his 13 races here.

Unser was in the right place at the right time in 1968, when Joe Leonard's pace-setting turbine expired with nine laps to go. Unser, in second place, motored on around to win his only Indy title.

Unser is ready to hang his luck totally on the reliability of the Eagle racer he designed back in 1971. Its reliability, he noted, has been proven almost to the point of obsolescence.

"The car going out of style, so to speak, has a better chance of winning the race, I believe, than a new model coming along," Gurney said, alluding to Foyt's new Coyote. "It would be nice to be able to choose between the two and say, 'Give me the winner.'"

"But given the old, proven model, or the new one with maybe more potential, I'd stick with experience."

Baseball, Softball Teams Await Pre-District Duels

A heavy schedule of 25 pre-district games involving southwestern Michigan teams will be played this Saturday.

Included in the list are 15 boys baseball games and 10 girls softball contests. The girls are conducting a state tournament in softball for the first time this spring. All pre-district winners will advance to the district competition the following Saturday.

In the Class A Portage Central District, both St. Joseph and Benton Harbor will take to the road. The Bears travel to Battle Creek Central and the Tigers to Kalamazoo Central.

The Buchanan - Brandywine contest highlights the Class B Brandywine District competition. The Bucks have won the two previous games, both by 4-3 scores, on its way to the Blus-sumland crown. The game is slated for Thomas Stadium. Lakeshore will also host rugged Sturgis.

Lake Michigan Catholic and Red Arrow champ Hartford will resume their heated rivalry at 3 p.m. at Riverview Park. The two clubs, which end their season today in a game at Hartford, will match two of the best hurlers in the area in the Indians' Rick Thomas and the Lakers' Gary Meek.

On the girls side, local teams St. Joe and Lake Michigan will both hit the road with the Bears at Portage Northern and the Lakers at Cass.

Benton Harbor drew a bye in the Class A St. Joseph district and Lakeshore a bye in the Class B Buchanan district. The two along with Hartford in Class C will advance directly to the district level.

No pre-district games are slated in the girls Class D Bridgman district. Also, Decatur forfeited its scheduled game with Kalamazoo Hackett in the Class C Bloomingdale District as it couldn't get enough girls together for a full team.

In the event of rain, all postponed pre-district games must be played on Memorial Day according to Michigan High School Athletic Association rules.

Tigers Lose At Traverse

TRAVERSE CITY — Benton Harbor could only manage two singles and lost to Traverse City 4-1 here Wednesday afternoon.

The second game of the scheduled twin bill was rained out. The lost drops the Tigers' final Lake Michigan Athletic conference record to 2-7.

Traverse City pushed across three runs in the opening inning for all the margin it needed. Benton Harbor scored its lone run in the fourth on a ground out by Richard Haney.

Singles by Dave Crum and Ray Thompson were the lone Tiger hits. Starter Vern Reynolds was tagged with the loss.

The Tigers resume action Saturday in a pre-district game against Kalamazoo Central.

No Jobs For Grads, So Bankruptcy Rate Climbs

By LINDA KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A college diploma can be a passport to a promising and lucrative career, but a growing number of graduates are finding it a ticket to bankruptcy court.

The nine-campus University of California reported that 115 loans, totaling $242,000, were unpaid in 1974 because the borrowers declared bankruptcy. This was up from 45 bankruptcies in 1972 and 50 in 1973.

Stanford University reported that bankruptcies by holders of Stanford student loans increased by 50 per cent during the last academic year.

"We have noticed for the last two years or so a fairly regular stream of bankrupts who have listed student loans and some have listed no other debts except student loans," said Judge Robert Hughes of the U.S. District Bankruptcy Court in Oakland.

The chief clerk at the bankruptcy court in San Francisco agreed that "It happens quite often. There are quite a few more with student loans in the past few years."

Court officers and students interviewed attributed the bankruptcy rise to rising university tuition coupled with high unemployment.

The student bankruptcy rate is part of a general upward swing in bankruptcies across the country. The government says that more American individuals and businesses filed bankruptcy petitions in March than in any other month in history. March is the latest month for which statistics are available.

But some officials say the student loan-connected bankruptcies are just a question of shirking debt.

"The reason they file for bankruptcy is the same as anyone else, they simply don't want to pay the bills," said Hughes. "It's basically the concept of paying for a dead horse. They've concluded their education, are ready to start a life of employment, and they don't want to be saddled with the repayment of loans out of their current income."

One graduate student who started bankruptcy proceedings this month said he and his wife had $16,000 in college debts. The student, who asked that his name not be used, said he started borrowing from the university and the bank when his fellowship ran out.

"I can't find a part-time job, not for love nor money. We had to go on welfare and food stamps," the 33-year-old said. "It's a shock to me. It made me feel like I was begging. Rather than go through this nightmare, I decided to file for bankruptcy."

The student, who is working on a doctorate in public health at the University of California in Berkeley, said his wife has a teaching degree but can only find part-time work.

"People say we don't have the type of thing to satisfy you, but basically there are no jobs," the student said. "I've never owed a penny in my whole life. I had intended at the time in all good faith to pay back the loans, but I became swamped."

He said many of his friends are in a similar financial morass. It was through them that he heard of the American Bankruptcy Council, a San Francisco based agency that sells do-it-yourself bankruptcy kits.

John Slavicek, founder of the council, advocates bankruptcy as a consumer's right and says it can be used as easily by the little person as the big corporation. His two-year-old operation has offices in Los Angeles and Eureka.

ACTING DEAN: Daniel Goodman, D.D.S., a metropolitan area endodontist Tuesday was named Acting Dean of the University of Detroit School of Dentistry. Dr. Goodman has been on the faculty for 27 years and graduated from the school in 1946. (AP Wirephoto)

Slavicek, 38, said his San Francisco office gets at least five phone calls a day from college students who want to file bankruptcy. They are charged $10 for his kit instead of the usual fee of $55.

"The students feel they've been taken for a ride. They were given money to get a college education, then they graduate and look for a job in their field and they can't find a satisfactory job," Slavicek said in an interview.

He said one of his clients is a chemist $15,000 in debt for his education. He can only find work as a gas station attendant. Another client is an oceanographer $12,000 in debt who also can't find work in his field.

"Some people still believe there is something morally wrong with filing for bankruptcy to get out of debt," Slavicek said. "They believe they should struggle and pay the bills, but if you get behind if you try because of the late charges, added interest and attorney fees. The only solution to all this is the bankruptcy laws."

"It's easy, and students don't own any property, so they don't have to give any up while the load of debt they get off is enormous."

Sarah Molla, information officer for the University of California, said that 45 student loans totaling $72,000 defaulted in 1972 because of bankruptcy and the figure was up to 90 for $149,000 and 115 for $242,000 in 1974. However, she said this "is not a big percentage of the total loan picture." She said the university currently has out 80,000 loans totaling $45 million.

Joseph Jedd, manager of student accounting at Stanford, said $47,261 in student debts were erased by bankruptcy declarations during 1973-74, compared to $31,875 in 1972-73. "This is a disturbing increase," Jedd said. "The problem of bankruptcies is worse than ever before and we expect the money lost during the current year to be much larger than before."

Jedd said $22,667 of the $47,261 lost to bankruptcies last year came from government loans and he feared that this trend might cause the government to reduce funding for loans.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., has written legislation that would impose a five-year moratorium on students discharging loans through bankruptcy. At the end of five years, the student could discharge his responsibility through bankruptcy or pay off the loan.

The bill has not been reintroduced in this session of Congress, but a spokesman said the senator plans to reintroduce the measure.

In This Case, 'Bluebird' Not Symbol Of Happiness

Q: How are things going in Moscow where all these stars are making a movie called "The Bluebird" with the Russians? — V.T., Butte, Mont.

A: It sounds like a horrible disaster. The cast, which includes Elizabeth Taylor, Ava Gardner, Jane Fonda, Cicely Tyson and James Coco, is working for peanuts to encourage East-West friendship. But bureaucratic delays, the terrible hotel service and other snafus have soured nearly everyone. Even Jane Fonda got sore when the cops ruffed up her husband because he tried to get back into the hotel after lock-up time.

QUESTION YOU NEER ASKED: Why do they call Princess Anne's husband "Fog" behind his back? The royal set gave him that nickname because he's a little dense and quite a wet blanket.

Q: We heard that Shaft is getting married. Is that true? We hope not. — M.W. and B.W., Detroit, Mich.

A: Richard (Shaft) Roundtree has been seen around with blonde actress Cathy Lee Crusty and there may be plans for this summer. You know how Roundtree likes tennis. Miss

Ask Your Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D.D.S.
And Michigan Dental Association

Q. I often hear that certain foods clean your teeth — so you really don't have to worry about brushing them. True or false?

A. False!! Not so long ago two investigators at the West Virginia School of Dentistry tested celery, apples and carrots to determine how much debris was removed by them during eating. Each of the substances did remove a certain amount of debris, but most of the cleansing effect was on the front and back surfaces of the teeth rather than in between the teeth where plaque forms most, and where decay begins most often.

The investigators determined there were too many other factors to be considered, to give credit for cleaning the tooth surfaces to the food that was chewed. For example, how long the food is chewed and the chewing habits of the individual.

Better not throw away that toothbrush and dental floss!

Q. Some time ago you wrote about an orthodontic appliance made of metal wires which could be taken in and out by the patient. My grandson has one made of rubber that he can take in and out. Do you think he should change it for one of the metal appliances?

A. First of all, orthodontic appliances aren't interchangeable in the way you seem to think! Each appliance is made for one individual alone, just like dentures are made.

The rubber appliance you describe, is probably a tooth positioner. It can encourage most types of tooth movement — but only to a limited degree. Very few malocclusions that require exceptional cooperation from the patient. It is usually necessary for the patient to exercise actively into the rubber position for several hours each day and to wear the appliance at night.

A rubber tooth positioner is most frequently used after other types of orthodontic appliances have moved the teeth to very close to their finally desired positions.

Time and time again parents complain that teething is making their baby have diarrhea, fever and even convulsions. Over the years, many investigators have stated such is not the case.

There simply is no evidence that teething causes fever, diarrhea, convulsions or bronchitis. Indeed, some serious mistakes in "diagnosis" are still made by parents or would-be helpful friends, and a child many not be brought to a hospital until he is almost unconscious from a form of meningitis or convulsions which have been attributed to teething.

Teething seldom causes sleep disturbance at night, but it does increase daytime restlessness, fidgeting, sucking, rubbing of the mouth or gums by the baby. Drooling usually occurs, and also a loss of appetite.

NEW YORK (AP) — A wildly colored Tahitian portrait by Paul Gauguin has been sold for $950,000, the highest price ever paid at auction for this artist and reportedly the third highest price ever paid for a post-impressionist painting.

The painting, called "Hina Nui," was sold just 10 years ago at Sotheby Parke Bernet, the same gallery where it was sold Wednesday night, for $245,000, a rise in value since 1965 of $705,000.

'Boy Wonder' Admits Money Behind Challenge

By JAY SHARDUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Silverman, at 37 still the boy wonder of network TV programming, surprised CBS and the industry last weekend with his decision to join ABC as head of its entertainment division.

He'll soon run ABC's daytime and evening programming, and next fall the CBS evening schedule he helped draw up will be battling against the one he'll oversee — but didn't draw up — for ABC.

Silverman, credited in the TV industry for a large part of CBS' ratings leadership in evening shows the past five years, says there are two main reasons why he's moving to ABC as of June 16.

"One is that the job will be more challenging and more exciting," says the New York City native. "I think the CBS schedules are in excellent shape now and there really isn't anything more for me to do here. And financially, it was a much better opportunity for me at ABC. It's a combination of the two. All good things have to come to an end and I think that fulfillment becomes a very important part of one's job."

Silverman, CBS' top vice-president for programs since June 1970, was partly responsible for getting the hit shows "Mary Tyler Moore," "All in the Family" and "M.A.S.H." on CBS in recent years.

His career has been meteoric. After graduation from Syracuse University and completion of a much-talked about masters' thesis on ABC shows while at Ohio State, he worked for WGN-TV in Chicago.

He later joined WPIX-TV here as an executive, only to be hired six weeks later, at age 25, as CBS' daytime programs director.

He said there had been informal conversations with ABC about leaving his current network for two months, but they didn't turn serious until the networks' 1975-76 evening schedules networks were finished.

He said he told Robert D. Wood, head of CBS-TV, last Friday that he'd be joining ABC, and that Wood was regretful but not mad.

"We're very close personally, and he wished me all the best," Silverman said. "I think he was surprised and sorry because we'd been a pretty good team.

And it has been a team, you can be certain."

ABC, which had a disastrous fall schedule last year, is starting out next September with nine new series, 11 returning shows, NFL Monday night Football and a new Friday night movie show.

He says he thinks all the returning shows are successful "and should have been renewed." While he can't comment on the new entries until he's seen them, he likes ABC's new evening schedule.

Asked if he'll make some changes or drop a show, he hedged a bit. "I think it's a possibility there could be changes at any of the three networks between now and fall," he said.

"There have been changes in the past, so nothing is impossible, but at this point there are no changes warranted ... this is the strongest schedule ABC has assembled in three or four seasons.

Some US-31 Bids May Be Let This Year

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Bid-letting on a portion of the proposed US-31 relocation could occur sometime this year, a new Berrien county advisory committee on the US-31 relocation project learned yesterday during the committee's initial meeting.

Ronald Roberts, route location engineer from the state highway department, told the new US-31 Relocated Advisory committee the highway department expects to let bids by next year on a portion of the road from the state line to US-12 south of Niles. He anticipated construction could begin in mid-1976.

The new organization was formed, because of federal regulation, to help insure local opinion is heard in development of the route for the freeway. A chief job will be to assist the highway department in deciding whether an east or west route around Berrien Springs would be in the best public interest when US-31 is relocated.

The relocation would go from the state line south of Niles to the I-196 and I-94 junction near Benton Harbor. Planning for the new road has been in progress for more than 10 years, and the path the highway should take around Berrien Springs has generated the most controversy.

Roberts told the committee the portion of the road from US-12 to Walton road south of Berrien Springs should be ready for bid-letting by 1978, and noted the alignment from Walton south to the state line has already been approved by the highway department and the department is preparing to start acquiring property.

Roberts said the new committee will work with the department in finalizing details of the western route around Berrien Springs, establish an alignment, conduct an environmental impact study, and gather details for an eastern route.

After that will come public input, public hearings, and finally a recommendation to the state highway department on which route around Berrien Springs would be in the best general interest.

While the western by-pass route around Berrien Springs has initially been approved by the highway department, the eastern route still has to be studied. A preliminary idea of where the eastern route would go has been developed, but a new twist has already forced that to take a different route.

Recently, the county established Love Creek nature preserve on the old county farm property near Berrien Center, which would be adjacent to the tentative eastern route, so plans now call for the eastern route to go farther east, to within a quarter-mile of the Penn Central railroad tracks.

Roberts said preliminary estimates indicate the entire project will cost about $100 million, or about $3 million per mile. He said the western alignment will cost about $3 million more than the eastern route, mainly because of the necessity of bridges. Funding is 70 per cent federal, and 30 per cent state, he added.

Roberts anticipated a full public hearing on which route will be used will come in June, 1976.

The committee will hold regular meetings the second Tuesday of each month at the county planning department office in the courthouse, St. Joseph. Planning Director Charles Eckenstahler asked that any person or group that desires to make a presentation contact him at least two weeks before a scheduled meeting in order to get on the agenda.

The nucleus of the committee is the county planning commission, the county road commission, and the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission.

Killer Storm Also Causes Heavy Property Loss In Area

Continuing violent weather was believed responsible for three more deaths in southwestern Michigan Wednesday.

A Three Oaks youth was killed by a bolt of lightning as he worked with a tiling crew in a farm field.

Two Lawrence high school seniors were killed last evening when they apparently walked into a downed, live power line in underbrush in a rural area near Lawrence. They were identified as Sheila Crawford, 18, of Lawrence, and Clifford C. Rader, same age, of Route 4, Paw Paw.

Killed in a field on the Bill Koebel farm southwest of Galien when hit in the head by lightning was John Gosnell, 16.

Even as renewed storms were developing in the early afternoon yesterday, Berrien sheriff's marine officers were recovering the bodies of a Benton Harbor father, John E. Carr, 45, and his two sons, Jonathan, 12, and Darrell, 11, who were drowned Tuesday in North lake at Grand Mere near Stevensville. The two boys were lost when a swift-moving storm engulfed their small fishing boat on the lake and the father apparently lost his life in an effort to save them.

Recurring showers covered most of southwestern Michigan Wednesday afternoon and evening, but the brunt of the weather's force struck principally in the Otsego area of Allegan county. High winds caused heavy damage in the town, and streets were described as impassable due to downed trees.

The roof of the Otsego high school auditorium was torn off by wind, and at least six homes damaged there. Damage in Otsego was estimated at $200,000 by state police.

At nearby Martin, a plastics plant was heavily damaged by wind. A hangar at the Plainwell-Otsego airport collapsed, damaging an airplane.

Lightning was blamed as the cause of a fire that destroyed a barn on the Harry Bryant farm, Route 2, 84th avenue, Decatur, about 11 o'clock last night. Decatur Fire Chief Chester Tortorelli said some 1,500 bales of hay and 150 bales of straw were among the contents lost in the blaze. There was no estimate of the amount of loss.

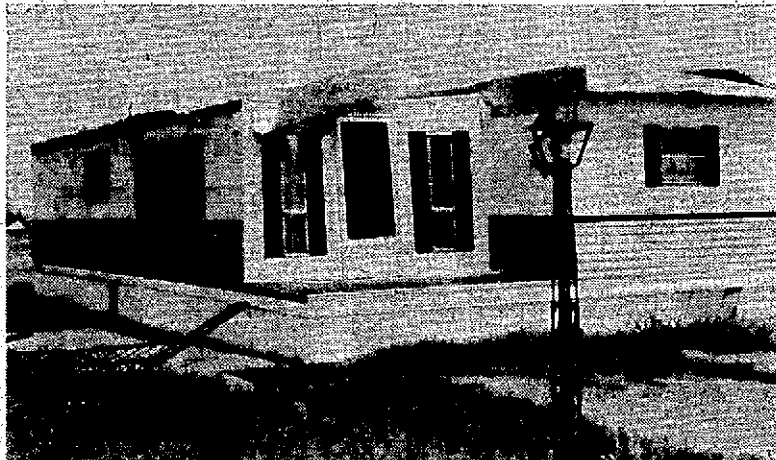

Wind revisted a portable classroom of the Berrien Springs School system yesterday. A section of metal roof on the unit was blown loose during Tuesday's violent storm. Supt. Lee Auble said temporary repairs were made. Wind yesterday tore the same section loose about 1:30 p.m. Additional water damage occurred, but the class room was empty yesterday because the students were on a field trip.

Glendale, a crossroads community on M-43 east of Bangor, reported considerable wind damage yesterday. Early estimates placed damage from falling limbs and trees at $10,000 to $12,000, with losses expected to go higher as complete reports developed.

A rural Paw Paw woman, Mrs. Royal Ritter, received minor injuries about 3:45 p.m. when a car driven by her husband crashed into a tree down across Almena road east of the Van Buren-Kalamazoo county line. Mrs. Ritter, 39, was treated and released at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo.

MORE PAID TRIPS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen will get more free trips home and other benefits estimated to be worth $10 million a year under legislation approved by the House.

ROOF TORN OFF: Roof of vacant, repossessed mobile home at Country Holiday Estates mobile home park on M-43 west of Glendale was ripped apart about 2:30 p.m. by high winds yesterday, according to park manager Mrs. Patricia Denczek. Parts of roof were blown nearly one-quarter mile away. (Staff photo)

Judge Taylor Likes Cleanup Statute

For two days next week Charles A. Tension may be seen policing Pokagon, cleaning up Carmody and tidying Tubbs. He was sentenced yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court for littering. District Judge Ronald Taylor ordered Tension, 23, of 18½ Ash street, Three Oaks, to report to the Berrien County Road commission on May 27 and 28 to pick up litter. Taylor said the man, who pleaded guilty to littering May 21 in Union Pier, will spend two full days cleaning up Berrien county roads. The statute for littering contains a section that allows judges to sentence persons to cleanup work. Taylor said adding "I think it's a pretty good statute."

Cassopolis Youth, 17, Drowns In Channel Near Edwardsburg

EDWARDSBURG — Timothy Vantilburg, 17, of Cassopolis, drowned in a Garver lake channel south of here about 9 p.m. yesterday, according to Cass county sheriff's deputies. The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Payson of route 2, North street, Cassopolis, drowned in about eight feet of water near the center of the 30-foot-wide channel, deputies said.

The body was recovered about two hours later, deputies said. Vantilburg and Mike Steinhof of Vandalia and two girls were at the channel when he went under, according to Edwardsburg police who got the first call on the drowning.

Deputies said they are trying to determine whether Vantilburg's reported asthma condition may have contributed to his death.

Vantilburg was the third drowning victim in Cass county this year.

Degrees From Grand Valley

ALLEDALE — Eight southwestern Michigan residents are expected to receive their bachelor's degrees from Grand Valley State college during commencement here June 7. Degree recipients include Thomas Moynihan, Baroda; William Cheevers and Marie Graziano, Benton Harbor; Kevin Keigley and Michael Kesterke, Berrien Springs; Edward Patzer and Sandra Whiteman, Edwardsburg; and Mary Foster, Niles.

Watervliet Meeting Tonight

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet city commission's public hearing on the city's 1975-76 budget, postponed Tuesday night, has been rescheduled for 8 p.m., Thursday, May 23. The public hearing will be held in the chambers of city hall on the second floor.

Lake Improvers To Meet

PULLMAN — The Lower Scott Lake Improvement association or Pullman will hold its first meeting of the year Saturday, May 24, at 9:30 a.m. in the Friendship room of the Pullman Congregational church.

Paw Paw Winery Honored

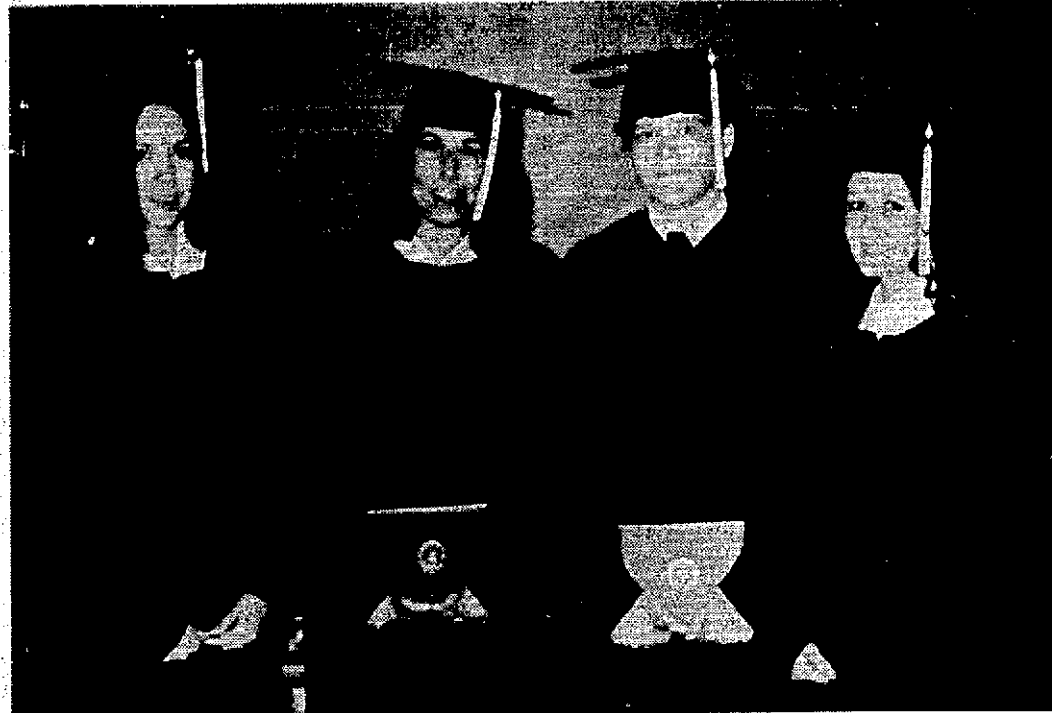

GRAND RAPIDS — Warner Vineyards, Paw Paw, has again won the Michigan Agricultural Product of the Year award. Judged best agricultural goods released this year were Warner's Solera Port wine and Solera Cream Sherry, according to James K. Warner, president.

In 1973 Warner's champagne took the award, one of several honors given to new products during annual Michigan Week festivities. The awards are designed to recognize important products developed in the state.

month. The wines are blended and aged by the time-consuming solera method, developed centuries ago in Europe, he added. Wine made from grapes harvested as long ago as 1946 is used in the new products.

Consumer product honors went to Zin-Plas Corp., of Grand Rapids, for developing a plastic shower head to save water and heating costs.

Harris Miller, Inc., of Zeeland, won the nonconsumer goods category with a flexible seating system composed of interchangeable modules made from molded urethane foam.

DIPLOMAS KEPT DRY

SMC Grads Get Soaking

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

DOWAGIAC — Southwestern Michigan college here bet against the heavy odds that rain would force yesterday's commencement indoors and lost the wager when a spring shower poured down just as the ceremony got underway.

The downpour sent the graduates and their friends and families scrambling for shelter just as Dr. George Roche III began his commencement address.

Once those who had gathered on the library lawn quickly moved under the building's roof and adjoining lobby, the ceremony resumed, but in a shortened form.

The 140 students scheduled to receive associate degrees gathered closely around the entrance to the library and their friends were moved into the lobby to watch.

Dr. Roche, president of Hillsdale college, Hillsdale, told the dampened crowd that he had probably made several hundred speeches during his career. "But never in my life have I experienced a situation where people went further out of their way to avoid the conclusion of my speech."

Taking note of the weather conditions, Dr. Roche quickly summarized his prepared speech and urged the graduates to, "know who you are and know where you are going."

At that point SMC officials made another last-minute change. The graduates were scheduled to receive their diplomas once Francis L. Hiscock, dean of applied sciences, and Dr. William E. Spencer, vice-president for instruction, presented the students to college President Dr. Russell Owen.

Dr. Owen asked the graduates to move to a nearby classroom building where the students formed a long line in a hallway and were presented diplomas. Honored for special academic achievement were four SMC students who attained perfect 4. grade averages. The students were Daniel Malone, 1611 Terminal road, and Sandy Williams, 2410 Miller drive, both of Niles; and Joan Garrelts, route 1, Wilbur Hill road, and Linda Sprague, Silver Lake street, both of Dowagiac.

Choral selections were provided by the Cassopolis community choir, under the direction of Carl Waterbrook.

Rev. Joseph Egan, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic Church, Cassopolis, and pastor of Lady of the Lake Catholic Church, Edwardsburg, gave the invocation and benediction. Organist was Mrs. Ronald Benkert.

Berrien Springs Officer Suspended

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A policeman who was driving a police cruiser which crashed near here May 8, killing a civilian passenger, has been suspended from duty for four weeks without pay as a result.

Fred Foster, 28, a Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township officer for three years, was suspended by the village-township police commission which oversees departmental operations, according to Jack Davis, commission chairman.

Foster was driving a departmental squad car when the crash occurred, killing Anthony Debartolo, 24, of Berrien Springs. Debartolo was a former Berrien sheriff's deputy.

Jack Davis said yesterday the suspension was voted Tuesday night.

Davis said the suspension was ordered on grounds Foster had violated a departmental rule prohibiting unauthorized personnel from riding in cruisers.

The suspension was not the result of Foster's handling of the cruiser, Davis said.

Foster was responding to a radio call for assistance from another officer when the accident occurred.

After the crash, Foster told Berrien sheriff's deputies that he was traveling on US-31-33 just north of the Berrien Springs limits when he came upon a slow-moving auto just north of George street. Foster said he braked to avoid an accident, lost control of the cruiser, and slammed into a utility pole. Foster was injured in the crash.

Davis said the commission issued a one-sentence statement following its decision which read, "The commission has reached a decision that Fred Foster shall be suspended for a period of four weeks."

The commission chairman declined to reveal how the five-member unit voted. Davis said the group is composed of two members each from the village and township, appointed by their respective council and board, and Police Chief Victor Yost.

Baroda Township Supervisor's Daughter Quits Part-Time Post

BARODA — The daughter of the Baroda township supervisor has resigned her job as part-time secretary for comprehensive employment training programs in Baroda township.

Dennis J. Mead, 27, in a letter to the township board, said she had been advised that she could not keep the federally funded job because of a possible conflict of interest.

Her father is Orland Mead, Baroda township supervisor.

Miss Mead was hired by the township board Monday night at a salary of $4.30 per hour for a job that would take about 20 hours monthly, the supervisor said today.

Her letter of resignation was dated today.

The supervisor said he would assume the administrative duties he had been handling before his daughter was hired.

PROF. GERTRUDE HORGAN
Package 4,509 days in coming

Was It The Snow, Rain Or Sleet?

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — After 4,509 days, Gertrude Horgan has back the Irish tweed coat she left behind during a Christmas visit in 1962. The coat was mailed Jan. 10, 1963, by the Aquinas College English professor's sister in Newton, Mass. But it wasn't until last Friday that the Postal Service routinely delivered the 2-by-3-foot box to the college. "Nineteen - sixty - three you say? You must be kidding," Postmaster James Blankenship said when asked about the overdue coat. There was no explanation for the delay, longest in the memory of local postal workers. The professor theorized the package lay for years "in some subterranean room." But the package arrived clean, crisp and unmarked, she said. She said she may throw the coat away. But the postmark showing when the package was mailed will become a valued keepsake. "I want to frame it," she said.

Topless Dancing Hearing A 'Bust'

ESCANABA, Mich. (AP) — You might say a state liquor commission hearing on topless dancing in bars this week was a complete bust. Eight persons were in the audience here, including four newsmen there to cover the event. The other four members of the audience declined to testify or even expose their thoughts on the subject. Faced with that, Commissioner Edward Wiest of the state Liquor Control Commission, who was to conduct the session, adjourned the gathering after two minutes. The hearing was the last of four held throughout the state to obtain public sentiment on proposed rules regarding topless dancing in bars. Earlier hearings were held in Lansing, Detroit and Wyoming. Wiest said it would be 60 to 90 days before any action was taken by the LCC. Any proposed rules would have to be approved by the joint administrative rules committee of the House and Senate, he said.

Youths Arrested In Benton Break-In

TWO YOUNG MEN were arrested by Benton township police Wednesday night after a break-in was reported at Wenzlaff's grocery, 1184 Paw Paw avenue.

Police said the front door of the grocery had been kicked in, setting off an alarm at the police station. Police said a preliminary inspection indicated nothing had been taken from the store.

Arrested about a half mile from the store on charges of breaking and entering were Steven Treat, 18, of 4999 North Branch road, Bainbridge township, and Michael Skoda, 19, route 2, box 268, Britain avenue, Benton township.

Benton township police said a 1972 brown Ford pickup truck was reported stolen from Ashley Ford sales, 1074 East Napier. Police were informed that the three-quarter ton truck valued at $3,800 was taken sometime in the past two weeks. Police said a tape player and recorder also were reported stolen from a vehicle in the Ashley lot.

Allen Grocery, 1900 Highland avenue, was broken into for the second night in a row, according to Benton township police.

Taken sometime Wednesday night were cigarettes, pop, luncheon meats and candy of undetermined value. The missing items were almost identical to those taken the night before.

Police said the thieves used the same entry location a side window which had been screened after the Tuesday theft.

Theft of a wallet containing $350 cash was reported to Benton township police Wednesday.

James Blue, 121 Frederick, Benton township, told police he was in the 300 block of Burton street asking Lee Perkins, 243 Burton, about buying a car when an unidentified man asked to see Blue's drivers license.

Blue was getting the license from his wallet when the man grabbed it and ran. Blue said he gave chase, but was unable to catch the man.

Demands Hearing

The driver of a car that struck a tree Tuesday morning, killing a passenger, demanded preliminary examination yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court on a charge of negligent homicide.

Arraigned on the charge was Dirk J. Vanderdoes, 23, of 4362 Bacon School road, St. Joseph. He is accused as the driver of a car which struck a tree on US-31, 33 near Dean's Hill road in Berrien township.

Impact of the crash threw passenger Gregory E. Yerke, 23, of 1201 East Marquette Woods road, St. Joseph, from the auto. The vehicle reportedly landed on top of Yerke, killing him. Vanderdoes is accused of being negligent by exceeding the speed limit and ignoring warning signs, according to the prosecutor's warrant. He was freed on $1,500 personal recognizance bond.

Awaits Sentence

A second Benton Harbor man accused of robbing a branch bank in Scottdale in February pleaded guilty to armed robbery when arraigned yesterday in Berrien circuit court.

Pleading guilty to one charge of armed robbery before Judge William S. White was M.C. Woods, 24, of 684 Colfax avenue. He remained jailed in lieu of $100,000 bond to await sentencing of up to life imprisonment.

A co-defendant in the case, Leotis West, Jr., 21, of 489 Eganston avenue, Benton Harbor, in March was sentenced to 15 to 30 years in prison, also for armed robbery.

Woods pleaded guilty to assaulting Ursula Rogers, a teller at the Peoples State Bank of St. Joseph, Scottdale branch, with a pistol Feb. 7 and making off with more than $11,000. Two other counts of armed robbery, involving two other tellers, were dismissed by the prosecutor's office.

Seven Sentenced In District Court

A woman demanded examination on a charge of third offense drunk driving Wednesday in Fifth District court, and at the same time was sentenced for a second offense charge.

Six other persons also were sentenced in District court.

Polly J. Padgett, 46, of North Branch road, Millbury, demanded examination on the charge of third offense driving while intoxicated May 18 in Benton township. She posted $1,500 bond for that charge, but was sentenced to 180 days in jail, with day parole, for second offense.

OPPOSE TIRE GRADING
WASHINGTON (AP) — Six tire manufacturers are opposing a grading system proposed by the government to let consumers know the expected mileage, traction and temperature resistance of new tires.

offense drunk driving Oct. 13 in Benton township.

Sentenced for petty larceny were: William M. Anderson, 11, 18, of Coloma road, Hagar township, fine and costs of $121; Hester M. Bridwell, 44, of 1461 Monroe, Benton Harbor, five days in jail and $100, or 30 days in jail total; Michael Milnikel, 23, of 741 Clemens, St. Joseph, $180.

Others sentenced were: George J. Holliman, 25, of Benton Harbor, $151 and three months probation for impaired driving Feb. 6 in Benton Harbor.

Donald A. Cowgill, 19, of Three Oaks, five days in jail for attempting to elude police in New Buffalo township May 21.

Gerald D. Maxwell, 20, of Thornton, Ill., $50 or 10 days in jail for use of marijuana May 20 at Warren Dune state park.

TOM FORD
President's Half Brother

Ford's Half-Brother Can't Have Favorites

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — President Ford's half-brother Tom has pledged $50 to Democratic state House candidates for next year's election. "It's fantastic," said Stanley Fedewa, executive secretary of the Michigan House Democratic caucus. "We're very happy. Maybe they're catching on." But Ford, 56, says he's not abandoning the Republican party.

As a legislative audit coordinator in the Michigan Legislature, Ford is an employee of both parties, so he tries to keep everyone happy with political contributions to both sides. "I haven't changed parties," the former Republican state representative from Grand Rapids said Tuesday. "I play it right down the middle. This is a non-partisan job and if I'm going to support one I have to support the other." Last year, for example, Ford says he gave about $400 to $500, "split almost exactly down the middle to the penny" between Republicans and Democrats.

This year he says he's trying to cut down all around because he feels his political giving last year "got out of hand. I can't afford that. The mailing list gets passed around and suddenly I'm on all the lists," he complained. Ford got his $26,000-a-year post two years ago after losing a bid for re-election to the legislature following a redrafting of House districts which dismantled his old base of support.

He was hired by the Democratic chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and the Republican chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. Both committees are now chaired by Democrats after the party took control of the Senate this year. Ford's job involves helping lawmakers keep track of where state money goes. During his stay in the House, Ford estimates he raised $10,000 to $12,000 for the GOP. "I go to the Republican fundraisers too, but the Democrats are more fun," he said.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Continue Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower today, continuing a week-long trend of slow but steady declines.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down about a point. Declines outnumbered advances by close to a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted a lingering air of caution over the government's report Wednesday of a new pickup in consumer prices. They said another subduing influence was concern over the financial problems plaguing New York City.

Gold stocks were strong with bullion prices rising sharply in world markets. ASA Ltd. rose 1 1/2 to 79 3/4. Dome Mines 1 3/4 to 52 3/4, and Campbell Red Lake Mines 1 1/2 to 33 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average slide 11.81 to 618.68, extending its loss over the last five trading days to just over 40 percent.

Losers outpaced gainers by more than a 3-1 margin on the Big Board in turnover of 17.64 million shares.

The NYSE's composite index was off .53 at 47.27.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .59 to 86.78.

Glaziers Approve New Pact

A strike by members of a glaziers union has ended with the ratification of a new three-year contract, according to Donald Haynes, co-proprietor of Twin Cities Glass Co., 285 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor.

Haynes said the settlement provides for base pay increases of 7 percent for each of the next three years. Involved in the strike that began early last week were five employees of Twin Cities Glass Co. About a dozen other firms affected were reported in the South Bend, Mishawaka area. The former contract with Glaziers Local 1152, based at Mishawaka, expired on May 8.

Haynes said all work has resumed at Twin Cities Glass Co.

Clark's President Confident Of Future

CLEVELAND, Ohio — (Special) — Clark Equipment company is "confident" of its long-range outlook, said Bert E. Phillips, president and chief executive officer, in an address before the Cleveland Society of Security Analysts here Wednesday.

"Our product lines tend to become an essential part of the infrastructure of any economy," he said. "By year end, if the economy improves as many have predicted, we plan to regain the substantial momentum of sales and incoming orders that was evident during most of 1974."

He said he expects sales for the first half of 1975 to fall in the $700-750 million range, compared to $683 million for the first six months a year ago. First half performance is due largely to a backlog of orders that stood at $846 million at the end of 1974.

He noted, however, that the order backlog had declined to $621 million at the end of April 1975, making the second half of the year difficult to forecast.

"A bright spot in the short-term outlook is that a slowdown should aid us in conserving cash by enabling us to reduce inventories," he said. "For the first time in many months the severe shortage of materials has eased, and we are beginning to achieve a much better inventory balance. As production declines, we will also be able to increase production efficiencies and reduce costs in that area."

Hutchinson Vote Stand Not Changed

By EDMUND PINTO
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Edward Hutchinson has not changed his mind about voting on bills that would break up energy conglomerates because he sees no conflict of interest with his stock holdings, a spokesman says.

Hutchinson, R-(St. Joseph) Mich., who owns stock in five major oil and natural gas companies, is ranking minority member of the House Judiciary Committee. He also is the top Republican on its monopolies and commercial law subcommittee, which is scheduled to hold hearings in June on the general question of energy conglomerates.

He could not be reached directly for comment.

Several bills already introduced call for breaking up energy conglomerates by not letting them move into the marketing of other energy sources, or, as would be the case primarily with oil companies, by separating refining and marketing aspects.

Hutchinson was quoted by Grand Rapids television station WOTV last week as saying that he would vote on the proposals although he owns stock in oil or natural gas firms, including Exxon, Standard Oil of Indiana and Sun Oil Co.

A section of Rule VIII of House Rules says a member "shall vote on each question put, unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest" in the outcome of the vote.

Sources at the Capitol who asked not to be identified said that unless the bills to break up conglomerates specifically name those in which Hutchinson owns stock, it could not be said that he had a direct interest, but a general, or class interest in the outcome.

The sources said that a previous decision under Rule VIII has held that the interest must affect "the member directly, and not as one of a class."

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

ARE SOCIAL SECURITY TAXES FAIR TO LOWER INCOME WORKERS?

When Social Security taxes were first deducted from workers' pay back in 1937, the tax rate was 1 per cent matched by 1 per cent from the employer. On schedule was a rise to 3 per cent each by 1949, considered more than adequate to finance the program well into the future. The maximum earnings base was $3,000, so the maximum any worker paid was $30 and most paid less.

The reasoning of the law's original framers was that those with more than $3,000 a year would have sufficient excess income to provide a supplementary retirement cushion for themselves. Social Security's protection floor was not to be raised to replace earnings at a level above $3,000 a year.

The benefits were to range from $15 to $84 a month, depending on the worker's average earnings, and were to be payable only to the retired worker himself. No benefits were to go to his dependent wife, nor his widow and children if he died (except for a return of his contributions). There were no disability benefits if he became incapacitated for work, and of course no Medicare.

Today, the SS contribution rate is 5.85 per cent each on employee and employer and the upper limit on earnings subject to the tax and creditable toward benefits is $14,100.

Today, about 15 per cent of all workers have earnings above this maximum earnings base against 3 per cent above the maximum in 1937.

Today, benefits for an individual worker now on the retirement rolls range from a minimum $83.80 to $316 — while benefits for a worker retiring in the future with average earnings of $14,100 will amount to $484 a month. For families now on the benefit rolls, payments range from $140.80 to $574 per month and can be as high as $847 for those coming on the rolls a few years from now.

The original congressional intent to exclude upper earnings from the SS tax and from the computation of benefits has backfired. For example, the head of a family with earnings of only $5,000 a year now pays nearly $300 in Social Security taxes, but only about $100 in income taxes. But the person earning as much as $1,000,000 a year escapes paying Social Security taxes on all but the first $14,100 of his earnings.

If Social Security taxes were progressive — like the income tax — the millionaire would pay a share according to his income and the low income worker would pay according to his.

The charge (with which I have openly and do openly sympathize) is that the SS tax structure is appallingly regressive — and our fight has become much more heated recently because inflation has hit so viciously at the lower income brackets.

But, the Social Security "white paper," signed by a bipartisan group of eight former Health, Education and Welfare secretaries and Social Security commissioners, strongly disagrees with this argument.

The benefit formula, says the white paper, is so designed as to give a larger return for each dollar of contributions to the low-income worker than the higher-paid worker. The net impact is to transfer some income from the more affluent to the less affluent. The paper continues:

"It is legitimate to argue that the system ought to be made more progressive than it is; as for instance by the introduction of a government contribution derived from general revenues, but it is not legitimate to argue, by disregarding the benefit payments that the system as now structured is regressive."

What's more, the experts declare, while an eventual government contribution to pay part of the cost of the SS system makes sense, the main support of the program should come from contributions of workers and their employers. If the principle of contributions is abandoned, a system financed out of general revenues would almost inevitably lead to a means test, so that you would not receive benefits until after you had become impoverished.

Without the tie between benefits and previous contributions, what would be the basis for paying those above the poverty line? Instead of a self-help program which you and I can use as a base on which to build toward family security, we easily might find Social Security turned into a welfare or negative income tax program designed to help only the very poor.

One solution might be along the lines of the one-shot tax credit in the 1975 tax law to help low-income workers with children offset their SS taxes, suggests former SS commissioner Robert M. Ball.

Suit Claims Land Not As Represented

A Stevensville woman has filed a $113,208 lawsuit in Berrien circuit court against a south St. Joseph real estate firm, claiming the land she bought was not the land the real estate salesman showed to her.

The plaintiff, Janet E. Higginbottom, of 6127 Red Arrow highway, claims there was misrepresentation in the transaction because she relied on the real estate company's experience in purchasing the land.

Named defendants were Kovach Real Estate, Inc., of 3665 South Lake Shore drive; James Kovach, owner of the firm and Michael Niek, identified as a salesman.

The plaintiff claims that in January she was shown a parcel of land off Lauer road in Ononoko township, which the salesman allegedly described as high land and "a beautiful building site." The suit claims he also said the site had already been surveyed. The suit says the plaintiff purchased the six-acre plot in February for $6,600, and later constructed a pole barn on the property. The suit says she was then informed the parcel she had actually purchased was 180 feet north of the land shown to her and on which she had built the barn. The suit says the actual land she bought is low ground.
